

Testimonial Banquet Tendered F. A. Sprentall On His Retirement

Ross Strike, Vice-President
Ontario Hydro, Speaker —
Presentation of Television

Stirling citizens had the unique distinction of honouring a public servant with over 50 years service on Monday night when they paid tribute to Frank A. Sprentall, retired Secretary-Manager of the Stirling Public Utilities Commission, at a testimonial dinner and presentation arranged by the local Commission. Mr. Sprentall came to Stirling in November 1909 to assist in building the first electrical system for the Village and retired the first of April last.

H. C. Bird acted as chairman and following Grace by Rev. K. J. Rooney and a toast to the Queen, the ladies of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church served a delicious turkey dinner. Mr. W. Nix Flindall, later voiced thanks to the ladies for their efforts.

The head table guests included Roy Eggleton, H. S. Graham, President of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association; R. L. Hatton, local Commissioner; Miss Rosa Spry, Mrs. Gordon W. Bailey, Reeve J. V. Holt, Ross Strike, 1st Vice-President Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission; Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sprentall, Harry Hyde, President of A.M.E.U. and General Manager of Toronto Hydro Commission; J. K. Fee, President Eastern Ontario A.M.E.U.; T. H. Gibbon, Manager Eastern Central Regional Division; Rev. K. J. Rooney, and W. Nix Flindall, Secretary-Manager of the local Commission.

Presentation To Mrs. Sprentall
Miss Rosa Spry of the local Hydro office, presented Mrs. Sprentall with a beautiful bouquet of red roses, followed by a round of community singing led by R. A. Patterson, with Miss Helen Morrow at the piano.

The Morrow Sisters delighted the gathering with their rendition of "I'm In the Mood for Love," "Fascination," and "Love Somebody."

A brief resume of the life of Mr. Sprentall was given by H. R. Tompkins. He stated Mr. Sprentall had been born in Brighton 73 years ago, the son of a millwright, from whom he inherited a flair for things mechanical. He had acquired his first knowledge of electricity at Davidson's Generating Plant but later worked in a general store. He had also apprenticed for two years in a Brighton drug firm, but a lengthy illness had changed his plans and following his recovery had worked for the town of Oakville as an electrician, and for the Canadian General Electric at Selwood, Ont. He came to Stirling in November, 1909, to assist in building the electric plant and later was engaged as manager, a position he had filled most efficiently for over fifty years. The speaker paid tribute to Mr. Sprentall's untiring efforts on behalf of the citizens of Stirling and stated the local hydro system was a monument to his industry and devotion to duty.

He also stated that the first movie in Stirling was started by Mr. Sprentall and Mr. E. Luery in 1916 and carried on until 1927 when their equipment was sold to the Village on the erection of the local Community Building. He had managed the Village theatre until its closing. He also had instituted the summer water service which had preceded the waterworks system and had played his full part as a good citizen.

H. S. Graham, President, brought greetings from the Ontario Municipal Electric Association, as did Harry Hyde, President, from the A.M.E.U. The latter presented Mr. Sprentall with a pair of cuff links engraved A.M.E.U., as a memento and in recognition of the wonderful work he had done.

Ross Strike, Q.C.
Guest Speaker

The guest speaker was Ross Strike, 1st Vice-Chairman of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, who was introduced by Reeve J. V. Holt.

Choosing as his subject, "The Last Fifty Years of Electric Development," Mr. Strike stated the last fifty years had seen greater development in the art of living so far as gadgets are concerned than ever before, and much of it was due to electrical energy following the birth of Ontario Hydro in Kitchener in 1910.

No one has an accurate definition of electricity, stated the speaker, but there is no faster energy. It is always associated with nature and always dangerous if not controlled. There were safety standards that apply to handling all electrical equipment and there were lists of safety practices available that every householder should be acquainted with.

In Frank Sprentall's early days electricity was only used for light, continued the speaker, but today Ontario Hydro has 7 million and a half horse power. In 1930 there were about 17 electrical appliances on the market, today there are 71.

Mr. Strike also had a word of caution for householders when appliance after appliance is added until the electric service in some homes was overloaded, creating a fire hazard. Looking to the future he mentioned some appliances that were just around the corner: (1) the electronic oven, (2) the electric wand to do the dusting, (3) refrigerators made out of plastic that could be cut to whatever size or shape required and in any colour, (4) lighting in walls, with no shadows, intensity of light to be controlled and colours changed at will, (5) portable TV's much thinner and lighter, (6) heating of homes by radiant panels.

In closing the speaker stated electric energy has been the touchstone of progress in this province over the past fifty years and "Mr. Electricity," Frank Sprentall had done a tremendous job in Stirling. He paid special tribute to Frank for the loyal and efficient way he had served the community.

Harold Wells voiced appreciation and thanks to the speaker for an informative address.

Gift of TV

R. L. Hatton, local Commissioner, was next called on and after paying a tribute to Mr. Sprentall for his years of effort on behalf of the Commission, presented him with a beautiful TV set on behalf of his friends.

Mr. Sprentall expressed his thanks to all for their co-operation and many kindnesses throughout the years and a special thanks on behalf of Mrs. Sprentall and himself for the evening arranged in his honour and for the beautiful gifts.

Presentation
To G. W. Bailey

Roy Eggleton spoke words of commendation for the years of service given by Gordon W. Bailey, who was associated with Mr. Sprentall for over thirty years as an employee of the local Commission, and made the presentation of a picture which was accepted by Mrs. Bailey in her husband's unavoidable absence.

Mrs. Bailey made a fitting reply on behalf of her husband and the chairman brought the evening to a close by thanking the guest artists and all those who had a part in the evening.

Joint Meeting P.U.C. and Council

A joint meeting of members of the Village Council and the local Public Utilities Commission was held in the Council Chambers on Monday afternoon, commencing at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. W. Ross, a financial representative of the Ontario Water Resources Commission, was present and presented figures, showing the total cost of the local sewerage system, including interest payments on progress payments and engineers fees during construction as $240,600. The interest payments amounted to approximately one thousand dollars per month, stated Mr. Ross.

A lengthy discussion ensued on the financial aspects of the system and it was the consensus of Council that the monthly rate for domestic users should be equal to the monthly water rates. The commercial rates will remain the same as those stated in the original bylaw.

Councillor Tompkins gave notice that he would introduce the necessary bylaw to amend Bylaw No. 531 at the next meeting of Council.

W. Nix Flindall, Manager of the P.U.C., presented a draft of an application form for sewerage connections, which was given tentative approval by Council.

River Valley Women's Institute Observes 50th Anniversary

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

On Monday afternoon, May 23rd, 1960, 106 ladies gathered at River Valley school house on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of River Valley Women's Institute.

The school was suitably decorated with Institute colours and crests, and spring blooms supplied by Mrs. Percy Craighead. A large three-tiered fruit cake, made by the oldest member, Mrs. Ina Free, and decorated by her daughter, Mrs. Ed Heasman, was displayed on a table along the centre of the west wall, and was flanked by silver candelabra containing white tapers. It was surrounded by a novel arrangement of 50 blue and gold aqua candles.

A perfumed greeting card of carnations from the "Link Institute" at Abbot's Leigh, Bristol, England, which opened to show several carnations, and a greeting card of roses with a special message of congratulations from a past district president, Mrs. Louis Rodgers, of West Hill, Ont., were given prominent places on this table, along with a picture of the birthplace of the founder of Women's Institutes in Ontario, Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless.

Many Displays

The River Valley Tweedsmuir History Book was displayed at the south of the room and at the north end were the 4-H Club girls' record books and other items of interest. There was also a small display of "friendship link" items.

The leather-bound guest book sent as a gift by Abbot's Leigh W.I. in 1954, was used for registering the names of the guests.

The kitchen was decorated with baskets of lilacs and a flowering plant lent by the Secretary, and the long tables where plates of refreshments were displayed, were centred with silver rose bowls of yellow tulips. A lovely kitchen mirror adorned the south wall of the kitchen. This was placed in loving memory of Mrs. Carman Frost, of Frankford, by her husband and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips, of Sidney Township.

Mrs. Frost was a regular attendant at the River Valley parties and she will be greatly missed at W.I. gatherings.

Guests were received in the school lobby by Mrs. Roy Tucker, President of River Valley Women's Institute, and Mrs. Roy Bush, a Past President of West Hastings District.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Public Relations Officer, was in charge of registration, which showed 32 members of River Valley W.I. and over 50 visiting guests from Chatterton, Wellman's, Stirling and Pine Grove Institutes. Several former members were in attendance and included Mrs. Norman Rosebush, Havelock; Mrs. Harry Sheridan, Campbellford; Mrs. Charles Carter, Burnbrae; Mrs. Hugh Jones, Springbrook; and Mrs. W. Shortt, R.R. 5, Belleville.

The guests were seated by Mrs. Ross Holland and Mrs. Roy Irven. Present Corages

Mrs. Ralph Utman and Mrs. Allan McDonnell made artificial corsages of yellow and white with a streamer attached giving name and office, and they had the honour of pinning the corsages on the ladies as they arrived. The eighteen so honoured were: the President, Mrs. Roy Tucker; Secretary, Mrs. George Heasman; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Vernon Harry and Mrs. Ernest Carr; District President, Mrs. Everett Phillips, Belleville; District Secretary, Mrs. Harry Coulter, Pine Grove; Past District Secretary, Mrs. Harold Phillips, Foxboro; a Past District President, Mrs. Roy Bush; District Public Relations Officer, Mrs. Percy MacMullen; five life members, Mrs. Percy Utman, Mrs. John L. Donohoe, Miss Flossie Rosebush and Mrs. John Kane; the oldest member, Mrs. Ina Free; the Flower Convener, Mrs. Percy Craighead, and Mrs. Ralph Utman, District Director, and Mrs. Allen McDonnell who were in charge of the decorating. Mrs. Jennie Donohoe was unable to attend due to illness.

The President, Mrs. Roy Tucker, was the capable chairman for the afternoon's proceedings and welcomed the visiting Institutes and district officers.

Mrs. Ralph Utman officiated at the piano and all sang the "Institute Ode." Mrs. George Heasman led the assembly singing. Special mention was made of the five Life Members and others, including Mrs. Mary Vandervoort, a Past District Secretary, and a senior member, Mrs. Ina Free.

An "In Memoriam Service" followed when Mrs. Ernest Carr carried in a silver basket of white tulips and Mrs. Vernon Harry read an appropriate poem in memory of all those Institute members who have died during the past fifty years. The flowers were placed on a special table on the platform. Mrs. Jane Vance, Stirling, donated the tulips for the memorial.

The President read a special "Ode to River Valley Institute," and said the history would be presented in groups of 10 years, giving a brief glimpse of what had taken place over the past 50 years.

Mrs. Percy Utman was in charge of the first period — 1910 to 1920. She, Miss Flossie Rosebush, Mrs. John Kane and Mrs. Alex Bush with a visitor, Miss Gladys Bly, of Toronto, as pianist, sang "Off to the Institute Meeting" and portrayed this period. Organized in 1910

The River Valley W.I. was organized in 1910 with 39 members and by 1920 they had a membership of 41. The first year showed total receipts of $9.80 with members fees at $6.75, and the expenses were 48 cents. They studied "Betterment of their Homes" and during World War I, three members knit over 100 pairs of socks each. The "Maple Leaf" opened the meeting until 1911 when the "Institute Ode" was adopted. An autograph quilt at 10 cents a name, added to the funds. An old photograph album was displayed with pictures of several members and officers at that time. This skit closed with another song, "I'm Working in the Kitchen."

The officers for this period were: first president, Mrs. Thomas J. Smith, for three years; followed by Mrs. H. McFaul, Mrs. W. H. Hanna, Mrs. Mary Vandervoort, and Mrs. Edgar Morrow.

The secretaries were Mrs. W. H. Hanna, Miss Janet Smith (later Mrs. J. Sager), Miss Edith Bush, Miss Flossie Rosebush, Miss Fannie Heasman and Mrs. Alex Bush.

There is one charter member, Mrs.

Percy Utman (nee Edith Bush), who has been a member throughout the fifty-year period. Among the original members attending the 50th anniversary were Mrs. Bert Bedford (nee Ethel Morrow), Mrs. Charles Conley (nee M. Joel Rosebush), and Mrs. Mary Vandervoort.

Four ladies of Wellman's W.I., dressed as couples of long ago — Mrs. James Pollock, Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins, Mrs. George Watson and Mrs. Fred Beckett — sang a medley of old familiar songs, with Mrs. Craig Watson as pianist.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a reading entitled "The Shaving of Jacob," which she had given at an Institute meeting in 1956.

Display First Radio

Mrs. Roy Bush was in charge of the second history period, from 1920 to 1930. Mrs. Bush displayed the first radio in River Valley in 1924 which was owned by Mr. Ernest Rosebush, a braided dress of that period, and a variety of embroidered articles which had been part of a 1925 trousseau.

Mrs. E. C. Hay-Elis gave a general outline of "Life in Ontario in the Twenties." Mrs. Stanley Irven read the list of officers as follows: Presidents, Mrs. Earl Morrow, Mrs. George Boulton, Mrs. Clifford Barranger, Mrs. Frank Carr, Mrs. Norman Rosebush and Mrs. W. H. Hanna. The Secretaries were Mrs. Alex Bush, Mrs. Percy Utman, Mrs. Earl Heagle, Miss Nellie Searles, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. Earl Morrow, Miss Gladys Rosebush and Mrs. Clifford Lansing.

Mrs. Roy Bush described the Institute's projects for school children such as providing hot lunches, first aid kits, swings for the playground, curtains for the stage, and cheese-cloth dresses for dolls. School Fairs were at their peak and the mothers assisted with the preparations.

When Canada was sixty years old a special patriotic programme was staged at the schools. In 1924 the ladies started to consider the idea of an addition to the school, and many years later it became a reality. In 1926 the first area convention was held in Belleville, and one of the members attended and gave a report.

When the Stirling Community Hall was built, River Valley W.I. furnished a library table for the reception room, which is still in use.

Mrs. K. Tuinman and daughter, Miss Greta Tuinman, of Chatterton W.I., sang "Memories." Miss Marilyn Conley, River Valley, rendered a pianoforte selection.

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh was in charge of the third history period from 1930 to 1940. This group were old hats of that period and displayed an old lamp. Mrs. Roy Tucker read the officers of that period as follows: Presidents, Mrs. Percy Utman, Mrs. Norman Rosebush, Mrs. Alex Bush, Mrs. W. H. Hanna, Mrs. John Kane and Mrs. George Heasman. Secretaries were: the late Mrs. Clarence Chard, Miss Emma Heasman, Miss Ethel McDonnell, Mrs. Fred McDonnell and Mrs. Don Donohoe.

Read Poem

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh read a poem "Do It." The group in their conversation presented these facts — that a piano was purchased for the school in 1931; that dances were sponsored at Rosebush's Pavilion; and the twenty-fifth anniversary was celebrated and the organizer, Mrs. Farley, of Trenton, who was then over 90 years of age, attended. The programmes were centred on the theme, "How to Economize in Your Kitchen."

Mrs. George Heasman read a list of interesting topics and a poem. Mrs. Harold Dettlor, of Pine Grove W.I., (formerly Miss Pansy Lansing of River Valley) sang "Drifting and Dreaming," with Miss Grace Heasman as pianist. Pansy had sung this selection at River Valley during this period.

The Misses Helen, Margaret, Lois and Ruth Morrow, of River Valley, sang "Happy Birthday to You" and "A Garden in the Rain," after which everyone sang "Pack Up Your Troubles."

The history period from 1940 to 1950 was given by Mrs. Ernest Carr. This fourth period of history depicted the war years. Mrs. Ernest Carr read a poem and Mrs. Jack Bush sang a marching song. The names of the boys overseas who received parcels were read and mention was made of a River Valley boy, Richard Chard, who was honoured by royalty at Buckingham Palace.

Pack Parcels

The President took the part of a school girl and helped to pack the parcels, along with Mrs. Glenn Bush. A large array of socks and men's wearing apparel was displayed.

The Presidents of this period were: Mrs. Percy Utman, Mrs. Ross Bush, Mrs. Fred McDonnell, Mrs. George Heasman, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Edward Kent and Mrs. Harold Morgan. The Secretaries were Mrs. Norman Rosebush, Mrs. W. H. Hanna, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, Mrs. Thos. Hanna and Mrs. Harold Morgan.

The main activities of this period were a garden party at the fair grounds. Tables and chairs were purchased.

In 1947 a link Institute was established with Abbot's Leigh W.I. in England, and parcels of food, tea, salmon, cube sugar and such, were forwarded regularly twice a month as England was on a strict ration.

A press secretary was appointed and space was purchased in the Stirling News-Argus under the Institute crest where all activities could be announced each week.

In the fall of 1949 several members attended an "At Home" at Holloway Street Church, Belleville, in honour of Mrs. Raymond Sayre, A.C.W.W. President who was visiting in Canada at that time.

In February, 1950, the fortieth anniversary of River Valley W.I. was celebrated in Stirling Community Hall with a banquet for all the members of the Valley community, followed by a programme and dance.

A valued member, the late Mrs. Clarence Chard, composed a song for this occasion and all those in attendance received a souvenir copy. The group closed their history period with this song.

Mrs. O. L. Clapper sang "There'll Always Be An England," with Mrs. R. H. Williams as accompanist. They represented Stirling W.I. group.

The last history period, from 1950 to 1960, was given by Mrs. Percy MacMullen. Mrs. MacMullen gave a summary of the "Fabulous Fifties." She said in part: "As the years have come and gone, we have broadened our horizons and kept in mind the vision of those pioneer institute women who passed on the torch to us."

The Presidents were: Mrs. Don Donohoe, Mrs. Ed Heasman, Mrs. Ross Bush, Mrs. Roy Bush, Mrs. Ralph Utman and Mrs. Roy Tucker.

The Secretaries were: Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, Mrs. Thomas Hanna, Mrs. J. R. Donohoe and Mrs. George Heasman. For two years, from 1949 to 1951, Mrs. Roy Bush served as President of West Hastings District.

During this 10-year period members have contributed informative papers and there have been many guest speakers. Delegates have attended conferences at Guelph, area and district conventions, Folk School and "Guelph Holiday." Many special meetings and approximately 125 card parties were held. West Hastings District Annual was entertained twice in 1952 and 1959. Food parcels were sent to the friendship link Institute in England until 1955. Since that time Christmas gifts have been exchanged.

One of the River Valley members visited Abbot's Leigh and the group in England sent a souvenir bell which was on display; also one of the lavender sachet bags received at Christmas in 1959.

Five life members were given certificates from 1954 to 1958. In 1950 River Valley W.I. gave its share of approximately $150.00 in the district's project of equipping a room in Trenton Memorial Hospital, and in 1954 it gave another $150.00 to the district project for Belleville General Hospital; also a share in the district memorial bird bath for Mrs. Alfred Watt (founder of A.C.W.W.) at the Peace Gardens.

Drapes and cupboards were purchased for the school, also institute badges for all members. When a special Coronation Day was held at the school a nylon flag was donated and souvenir gifts were presented to the pupils and teacher.

Outlines Activities

During the past 10 years the group has attended two 50th anniversaries, at Wallbridge and Wellman's Institutes. In 1952 River Valley W.I. entertained all seven branches at the Community Hall and in 1957 they attended the district commemoration of the 60th anniversary of the birth of Adelaide Hoodless. The A.C.W.W. film, "The Homes People Live In," was featured. In August, 1953, several members attended "Canada Day" at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto and in June 1956 a group journeyed to Ottawa in honour of Mrs. Alice Berry, A.C.W.W. President.

Three special events took place during this 10-year period — a mammoth lawn social at the Agricultural Grounds; a "community night" at the school when past and present trustees were honoured, and the entering of a float in the Stirling Centennial parade which won a silver tray.

The membership in 1950 was 40, and in April 1960, it was 41. It was stressed that members, 50-cent fees link them up with all the groups from district to A.C.W.W.

The first bond of $100.00 was purchased in 1950 and in 1958 the Institute had accumulated $1,000.00 which were cashed and spent. Mrs. MacMullen closed her highlights with a part of a poem written by the late Helen B. Anderson.

Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, wearing a 1950 hat, read a poem entitled, "Just A Moment."

Mrs. Ed Heasman gave an outline of the "big venture" when a new kitchen was built by the Institute. The men of the section installed a new heating plant. The kitchen has been bricked on the outside during the past year, and all debts are paid to date. She thanked all who had given donations and said there were still several more jobs to complete in future.

Outlines 4-H Work

Mrs. Grace Heasman spoke briefly on 4-H Club Girls' work. In 1958 River Valley W.I. sponsored their first club. They donated reference files and supplies. She outlined the "Club Pledge." There have been three garden clubs and six other clubs held, the last one being "The Club Girl Stands On Guard." The leaders have been: Mrs. George Heasman, Mrs. Vernon Harry, Mrs. Philip Conley, Mrs. Ross Bush, Mrs. Kenneth Myers and Mrs. Gerald Brooks. She thanked the Institute members for their assistance.

Three club girls, Misses Betty Hanna, Cheryl Utman and Marilyn Conley sang their 4-H Club song.

The 18 ladies who had depicted the 50 years of history gathered on the platform and sang a special Institute marching song.

The cake cutting ceremony followed. Mrs. George Heasman read a poem, "The Golden Chance," by Edgar Guest. The four Life Members in attendance participated and as the only charter member, Mrs. Percy Utman placed the knife in the cake while expressing to future members, "good luck, health and prosperity."

Mrs. Roy Tucker thanked all those who had assisted in making the 50th anniversary celebration a success.

Mrs. E. B. Phillips, President of West Hastings District, and a member of Wallbridge W.I., spoke briefly, expressing thanks on behalf of the visiting Institutes.

Guests were invited to the new kitchen where refreshments were served buffet style. The anniversary cake was served by several of the grandchildren of the members, including Misses Jean Donohoe, Judy Donohoe, Maria Heasman, Connie Tucker and Shelley Farrell.

The committee in charge of the dining room arrangements and replenishing were: Mrs. Gerald Brooks, Mrs. Vernon Harry, Miss Mary Thomas and Mrs. Ross Bush.

River Valley W.I. are grateful to all who had made the day so successful.

Ordained As Anglican Minister

Rev. Glendon Brant, of Detroit, became the first Mohawk Indian to be ordained a minister in the Anglican Church in a ceremony at Christ Church on the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve near Deseronto on Sunday.

WHY GIVE THE BURGLAR AN ENGRAVED INVITATION!

"You might as well give a burglar an engraved invitation to help himself at your house, if you leave valuables lying about," says Les. Rawlings, manager of the Bank of Montreal's Stirling branch.

Mr. Rawlings adds that behind the steel doors of a B of M vault is the safest place for valuables such as bonds, leases, stock certificates, insurance policies, deeds, birth certificates, passports and other important family documents.

"It costs less than two cents a day to rent a B of M safety deposit box," he says, and explains that hundreds of thousands of Canadians use B of M deposit facilities, an indication of the popularity of this service. "It pays for itself again and again in peace of mind alone," he says.

"Give the burglar a brush-off at your house," Mr. Rawlings advises. "Keep your valuables in your personal strong box — it's exclusively yours — in the Stirling B of M vault."

Drop in soon and see Mr. Rawlings about renting a safety deposit box... it will set your mind at rest.

A Letter To The Editor

Mr. Tompkins, Editor,
Stirling News-Argus,
Stirling, Ontario.

Dear Sir:

I should like to be granted space in your newspaper to refer to the extra number 527 from one of the Village bylaws.

My understanding of the last two lines is that dogs may be slain without first being impounded and their owners given a chance to pay damages. The words "necessary" and "advisable" are different enough in meaning to warrant a clarification of the intention of this statement.

There is no malice on my part in writing this letter. I am fully cognizant of the problem facing the horticulturists in having their gardens damaged. My sympathy is with you, the ones who beautify the village every year with your lovely flowers.

Very sincerely meant,

Katherine J. Pryor

Hunting Licences For Boys 15

Hunting licences now may be issued to persons 15 years old living in Ontario.

Regulations under the Game and Fisheries Act appear in the current edition of the Ontario Gazette and provide for the issuance of a licence to persons 15 years old if they have completed a hunter training course and have a certificate of competence. Resident licences only are affected.

The previous age for a hunting licence was 16.

Non-residents still do not qualify for a hunting licence until they are 16, even though they hold a certificate of competence from another jurisdiction.

Persons in Canada who smoke will pay the federal government an estimated $378 million this year in taxes on tobacco.

New Police Public Relations Campaign Launched In Ontario

The Hon. John Yaremko, Minister of Transport for Ontario, was host to 350 guests at a luncheon last week in Toronto that signalled the opening of his Department's new Police Public Relations Campaign.

Among the guests were government officials and representatives of municipal councils, the judiciary, municipal and provincial police forces, provincial and local safety councils, Chambers of Commerce, Women's Clubs, and industry.

The new campaign is designed to foster community support for effective traffic law enforcement. It reminds motorists and pedestrians that laws are essential to traffic safety — and that without enforcement these laws would be useless.

It is the first public education campaign of its kind to appear in North America. It stresses the vital role of policemen in preventing accidents, and urges the public to give their full support by obeying the laws.

In introducing the programme, Mr. Yaremko said, "Our police stand on guard 24 hours a day protecting our lives and property and maintaining law and order in our communities.

Enforcing our laws is a difficult and complex task, and our police must have support in order to discharge their duties."

Mr. Yaremko said that the campaign is designed to give the public a better understanding of the men who have been assigned the responsibility of protecting us. By fostering improved relations between the police and the public, it is expected that the campaign will contribute to greater traffic safety.

He drew attention to the billboard that will spearhead this campaign. It features a photograph of a policeman asking motorists and pedestrians to "Help me prevent accidents — obey your traffic laws."

Mr. Yaremko introduced Sergeant Edward Skalinsky, Hamilton, whose photo appears on the billboard.

The Attorney General of Ontario, the Hon. Kelso Roberts, Q.C., reported that the province has 8,750 men in uniform. He went on to say, "These are a fine body of men; we depend on them for our protection."

He urged the public to look upon policemen as friends who are always ready to lend assistance.

Chief Constable Wilmet Young, of Brockville, President of the Chief Constables' Association, spoke on behalf of the police of Ontario. He said that the campaign would do much to contribute to improved public relations, and expressed appreciation to the Minister or Transport and the Attorney General for this support.

Nayor Nathan Phillips, of Toronto, welcomed out-of-town luncheon guests to Toronto.

The guests were provided with complete planning kits that contained material and suggestions for community programmes at the local level. These kits will be made available to police departments, safety councils, service clubs and other groups who will take the lead in organizing local campaigns.

W. B. G. Reynolds of the Highway Safety Branch, Department of Transport, was responsible for campaign arrangements. In summing up the objectives of the campaign he said: "Traffic laws are for the protection of everyone. They are essential to the safety of the community and by obeying them in supporting our traffic officers we hope to lower the accident rate on our roads and highways."

Member of the Wedding

Matter of fact — it probably all started with a date made by a phone call. And when it comes to detailed arrangements, planning, orders, and the inevitable last-minute changes — then your telephone really becomes completely indispensable.

Actually, that is true for so many things we do: the telephone is always there, always ready to help and to serve. We take it for granted, it's so handy and so inexpensive.

Most snakes are harmless. And most hitch-hikers are decent people. But if you pick them up consistently you have only yourself to blame if you get a snake with a rattle in its tail, or a hitch-hiker with a blackjack in his pocket. Don't give rides to strangers, warns the Ontario Safety League.

In Memoriam

WARREN — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. James Warren, who passed away May 29th, 1958

Just her hand to clasp,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in the days that used to be.
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toll and strife:
And clasp each other's hand anew
In heaven, that happy life.

— Ever remembered by her sons and their families. 16-1p

PIZZA — AUTHENTIC OR MODIFIED — BOTH GOOD

"PIZZA — A large, flat tart made of bread dough spread with tomato pulp and strips of cheese and often shredded of meat, anchovies or the like, highly seasoned with savoury herbs, and baked thoroughly" . . . so pizza is defined in Webster's dictionary!

Another book says the dough of authentic pizza contains a little olive oil, in the Italian manner; the "savory herbs" are usually oregano or basil; and Parmesan or Mozzarella are the kinds of cheese used. The book also tells us that the plural of pizza is "pizzas"; that "pizza" means "pie" and when we say "pizza pie" we are actually saying "pie pie."

The following little pizzas, like many other made today, are probably a long way from the original — but they're mighty good and take only moments to make. You'll enjoy serving them for lunch and informal parties now and during the months ahead. The recipe has been tested in the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture.

LITTLE PIZZAS

1 6-ounce tin tomato paste

1-8 teaspoon pepper
3 teaspoon garlic salt
3 teaspoon oregano
16 slices process cheese (pound)
16 3" slices bread
Or 8 hamburger buns, cut in half
16 slices side bacon
2 cup of finely grated Cheddar cheese
Or 1 cup grated Parmesan cheese

When Using Bread

Combine tomato paste, pepper, garlic salt and oregano. Toast one side of bread under broiler. Arrange slices, toasted side down, in shallow baking pan. Cover each piece with a slice of cheese, spread with 2 teaspoons of tomato paste mixture, cover with one strip of bacon cut into three pieces, then sprinkle with about 2 teaspoons Cheddar cheese or 1 teaspoon Parmesan. Place under broiler so that tops of "pizzas" are 7" from broiling unit. Broil until bacon begins to crisp, about 5 minutes. Sixteen single servings or 8 double servings.

When Using Hamburger Buns

Do not toast hamburger buns. Otherwise, follow directions above, but trim slice of cheese to fit cut surface of bun and place trimmed pieces on top of slice.

Note: 3 cup of chili sauce may be substituted for the first three ingredients. Combine chili sauce and oregano and proceed as above.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

WHO SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED?

A prominent member of the CCF party in Canada has called for a House Committee to investigate ownership of newspapers, broadcasting stations and other media of mass communications.

If an investigation is required, what should be investigated is not the ownership but the content of the papers, radio stations and magazines.

The CCF itself is likely to come off poorly in any such investigation. The CCF press is about as biased and unbalanced as a press could be. The majority of newspapers in Canada give a remarkable amount of space to the statements and speeches of the CCF-ers; but the socialist press reaches out to all the extremes to avoid giving any impartial prominence whatsoever to the other parties. Wherever there is a shocking story of sin, violence or crime in the democracies, the socialist press grabs it and tries to twist it into a condemnation of free enterprise systems. Crimes committed in socialist states get no mention. Presumably the socialists who search out these tidbits for gullible readers go suddenly blind when a crime is committed under a socialist system!

The socialists like to attack advertising, too; but they use it plenty. The socialist press is not content merely to advertise in the conventional way. It also slants its news columns into audacious advertisements for socialist activities, or reprehensible attacks on other parties. This more subtle form of advertising, unidentified, catches the unsophisticated reader unawares.

Advertising, like work, is not enjoyed by some people; yet it is essential. It is one of the mainsprings of our economy — a method of persuasion rather than compulsion. Socialists know this, but they feel they can win some marks by attacking it — even though they use it themselves with considerable skill. Indeed, socialists will use almost anything to win votes because they are desperately eager for power.

They gained power that way in England. So much suffering and dissatisfaction followed that they are not likely ever again to hold power there. They gained power in Australia, and similar dissatisfaction led the people there to dismiss them.

They have a mania, these CCF-ers, for "investigating the other fellow." Let any fair-minded person take a look at the socialist press and see where investigation is really needed!

Miss Carol Sine, Music Supervisor, held a music festival last Wednesday evening in the Stirling Theatre. Mr. Harry Lovibond, a member of the Ivanhoe School Board, was chairman for the occasion.

This school had to carry on with only six pupils as the other 20 had contracted the mumps.

The first selection presented by pupils of the Brown School, under the direction of the teacher, Miss Helen Lembke, was a square dance. The group sang "McNamara's Band" with the solo parts sung by Dougie Hay and Linda Beckwith and "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

Pupils of West Huntingdon School, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Raymond Chambers, sang the following: "Santa Lucia," "The Lord Is My Shepherd," with solo parts taken by David Cooke and Barbara Ashley; "A Child's Prayer," with the solo parts sung by Janet Donnan and "Canada Forever."

Pupils of the Ninth Line School, S.S. No. 12, under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Rose, teacher, sang "Lamp Lighting Time in the Valley," with solo parts sung by Carol Heath and Marilyn Stewart; "Bless This House," and "The Closing Theme Song."

Appreciative thanks were tendered music supervisor Miss Carol Sine, the teachers and pupils for the fine programme.

Mt. Pleasant W.M.S.

Mrs. William McAdam was hostess for the May meeting of Mount Pleasant Rawdon Woman's Missionary Society. The President was in charge and Mrs. Garth Joslin officiated at the piano. Sixteen paid members answered the roll call. The Treasurer reported almost $31.00 for April.

The Stewardship and Citizenship Secretaries each read a message. The supply bale will be packed the end of June consisting of soap, towels, wash cloths and good used clothing. More pictures on Africa are needed for the scrapbook.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a fifteen minute review of the study book, "Africa Disturbed" and summarized what had not been given in the various programmes. The book closes with a message about Dr. Albert Schmetzler who read Luke 17: 21 —

Behold the Kingdom of God is within you.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver gave a fifteen minute summary of the work of present day missions in Africa as found in "Missionaries at Work," 1959 edition.

Letters written by missionaries were read by Mrs. Carleton Potts, Mrs. W. G. Fletcher, Mrs. Earl McAdam and Mrs. Grant Hubble. This closes the study on Africa.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe and Mrs. Irvin Potts were in charge of the devotional on "Growing." At the close prayer was offered for our prayer partner, Miss Blanche Gerhard, of Alberta. Jill McAdam gathered the offering.

Thanks was expressed for hospitality, programme and lunch. The hostess and conveners served light refreshments.

G. K. Fraser Veteran M.P. Dies Suddenly

Veteran of six Parliaments, Gordon K. Fraser, 69, Conservative M.P. for Peterborough since 1940, died suddenly Thursday mid-afternoon of a heart attack.

He was in James Hope & Sons book store on Sparks Street, Ottawa, at the time, buying a refill for his pen.

A clerk had just asked him what he wished, and he even had the pen in hand, opening the cap for the refill, when, before he could reply, he collapsed unconscious.

Mr. Fraser was dead on arrival at hospital.

The Good Driver

The writer of this column was driving behind a panel truck in the city recently, in the curb lane, when it slowed down and finally stopped for no apparent reason. Then it was seen that the left-hand turn signal was flashing — scarcely noticeable because of dirt on the lens, and bright sunlight on the back of the car.

The truck began to edge out to the middle of the road. Surprised drivers in the passing lane swerved and sounded their horns angrily at this unforeseeable manoeuvre. The young driver of the panel truck sat straddling the two lanes, waiting for a gap in the following traffic to allow him to make his left turn.

The day was mild, and his window was open. Yet, at no time did he bother to put his arm out to give the hand signal that would have explained and emphasized his intention, avoided irritation to a number of following drivers, and assured him a much more rapid crossing.

A mechanical signal is legally sufficient to indicate intention to turn. But, says the Ontario Safety League, there are occasions when it is stupid, discourteous and dangerous not to give hand signals as well as mechanical signals. A hand signal should always be given for additional emphasis is whenever a driver proposes to make a move that is in any way unusual, or liable to surprise or inconvenience other road users. For instance, a hand signal should be given when preparing to stop on city streets to back into a parking spot.

Stretching the left arm through an open window requires very little effort. It is just one of the many little things that make the difference between average driving and good driving. Driving could be a great deal pleasanter, and safer, if everyone would give these little extra efforts to the job.

It was realized that practical experience by itself, though invaluable and however long, is inadequate for progress.

Accordingly I obtained, and still maintain, student association with the World's greatest post-graduate optometric educational organization.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

UNEVEN LOSSES CAN STEAL 20% OF ENSILED GRASS

You can lose 20 percent of the dry matter from grass silage and not even know it, warns O.A.C. field crops specialist, Dr. Stan Young. And a loss like this occurs frequently, he says.

"Air encourages respiration which cuts down the dry matter in the silage even though no charring or molding is visible. This 20 percent figure means that 20 tons of dry matter are lost for every 100 tons of dry matter put up. It's a loss that costs hard work and tight money to grow and move into the silo," says Young.

Slow filling is the cause. Waiting a day or so before adding more grass to the silo leaves already-ensiled grass exposed to the air and increases the chances for trapped air pockets remaining trapped. Silage in both upright and horizontal silos is affected. "Air keeps cut plants alive and respiring. This can produce heat (charring), smells (unseen losses) or molding," explains the extension specialist. "Prevent you are paying a custom operator for filling the silo, and fill fast. Rapid filling speeds packing and drives out trapped air. Chopping helps too, especially with late-cut forages."

NEW NITROGEN TEST AT O.A.C. SOILS DEPARTMENT

For the first time in Canada farmers will be able to get their soil tested for nitrogen.

On making the announcement, Professor T. J. Heeg of the O.A.C. Soils Department said: "The old test showed us how much nitrogen was in the soil at the time the soil sample was taken. The new test will show us how much nitrogen the soil will release during the next few months."

The new nitrogen test promises to save Ontario farmers money on their fertilizer bill, said Professor Heeg. His reasoning: When you know how much nitrogen is needed for a good crop and how much is in the soil, you will be able to figure out how much nitrogen is needed.

If you want to get your soil tested for nitrogen, use these precautions:

Mail your samples within 3 days of sampling to make sure they arrive at the laboratory before they dry out.

If the soil in the field is dry, add two tablespoons of clear water to each sample before mailing. This keeps the soil organisms alive.

FINE FOR MINORS OPERATING FARM VEHICLES ON HIGHWAYS

"A five dollar or ten dollar fine may be waiting for the farmer who lets persons under 16 years old drive his tractor or motor vehicles along the highway this summer," stated Gordon Greer, President of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, in answer to repeated questions from farmers. "Naturally this is not as serious as an accident which could be caused from youthful carelessness or inexperience at the wheel when on our main roads. For years, we farmers have been accustomed to having our children learn to drive and operate our farm equipment at an early age, and so we tend to forget about what the consequences could be."

"However, the Highway Traffic Act, section 52, states that no person under the age of sixteen years shall drive or operate a motor vehicle or farm tractor on a highway," Mr. Greer pointed out. And further, "no person shall employ or permit anyone under the age of sixteen years to drive or operate a motor vehicle or farm tractor on the highway."

"The exception to this rule is when the motor vehicle or farm tractor is driven directly across the highway," he concluded. "In all cases, a farmer must recognize his responsibility to others using the highways, and should be sure that he complies with the rules of the road."

Timely Tips

If you don't have much hog pasture, the breeding herd comes first. Replacement gilts come next, then the sows. Prof. R. P. Forshaw says that hogs being fattened for market don't make the best use of pasture, and are better left till last when you are dividing up the acres.

Now's the time to take a close look at the cows in your beef herd. Culling cows that aren't pregnant or with calf at their side can save you a lot of time and money. The extra time and money is more than the delayed calf is worth, says Dr. Tom Burgess, beef cattle researcher at O.A.C.

This is the big year for June beetle grubs (white grubs). Now's the time to hit them before they start eating roots of such things as strawberries, grains, grasses and potatoes, says W. C. Allan, O.A.C. entomologist. Take advantage of spring rains to wash in insecticides such as chlordane, aldrin, dieldrin, or heptachlor. Work the insecticides into the soil when planting row crops. Get your copy of Ontario Department of Agriculture publication 283, "White Grubs," from the County Agricultural Representative or from the Information Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The Chuana complete Bible was first published in 1857. Seventeen years earlier the first consignment of Chuana New Testaments had been delivered to the Congo with the new missionary, David Livingstone, who had chosen to serve in Africa under the influence of Robert Moffat.

One day Robert Moffat was approached by a very worried native. Moffat asked him his trouble and the native said, "My dog has eaten one of the leaves out of my Bible." Moffat replied, "That is easy to repair. I will give you a new leaf to replace the other one." This failed to relieve the man's worry for he said, "No, that is not the worst thing. My dog will be of no use, as he will become as tame and kind as all the warriors have become since they read that book."

Over one hundred years have passed since this conversation and the Chuana Bible is still taming man's wild spirit.

Acute Bronchitis Can Be Fatal

"Twenty to thirty thousand people die in England each year from Bronchitis," states T. A. Crowther, M.D., writing in the current issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

"It is much less common in Canada, with the mortality rate one twentieth to one thirtieth that of England. Because of this, we tend to regard it lightly and not to look upon it as the serious and disabling disease which it may become. Sir William Osler stated many years ago that chronic bronchitis was a much less serious disease in Canada than in England because our houses are better and more uniformly heated."

Air pollution has a lot to do with bronchitis, and under unusual and fortunately rare weather conditions, such as occurred during the great London fog of 1952 the smoke and acid irritants reached a very high concentration. During a period of three days of this fog, four thousand people died. Over half of these had chronic bronchitis.

It is certain that atmosphere which is greatly polluted is irritant and harmful to our bronchi, and with much less pollution, to a degree that exists in our Canadian cities, it is also harmful. Prolonged exposure to these irritants may be necessary to produce bronchitis, and this is supported by the age of onset of symptoms. Few suffer from bronchitis under the age of thirty, and most start to have the symptoms after the age of fifty.

Tobacco smoke is a special irritant. A close correlation between tobacco smoking and chronic bronchitis has been shown in recent investigations. Infection and repeated infection, too, can change a simple, benign inflammation of the bronchi, characterized by a morning cough, into a progressive, disabling disease.

The majority of patients with chronic bronchitis are in the forty to seventy age group, few are under thirty. Four out of five are men; most of these are over fifty years of age and are cigarette smokers.

Adequate treatment of acute chest infections will do much to prevent the development of chronic bronchitis. It is of concern, however, that many of the factors in the causation of the severe and disabling bronchitis of England are also present here. We also have cold, damp and occasionally fog, and our air is polluted. We should use every possible means to keep clean and protect the air that we breathe.

Mrs. K. Rose Dom. Council W.A. At Tweed Meeting

Mrs. K. Rose, of Toronto, Immediate Past President of Dominion Council W.A., spoke to the ladies of the Hastings and Prince Edward Woman's Association of the Belleville Presbytery at the twenty-eighth annual meeting held in St. John's United Church, Tweed, on Thursday, May 28th.

Speaking on the proposed new woman's organization, which it is hoped may come into existence January 1st, 1962, she said: "This is as big a revolution in the history of the church as church union was some years ago. Should General Council, which meets in Edmonton in September, accept the report of the Commission containing the draft of the new constitution. It would make necessary a revision of the manual of the Church. A new Board of Women would be formed, and women would be appointed to most of the boards of the Church."

Morning Session

The morning meeting was opened with devotions conducted by Mrs. D. Chisholm and Mrs. W. Chisholm, of Roslin, with Mrs. G. Bailey at the piano. Their choice of topic "Working together with God," was an apt one for the starting of the day. Mrs. C. W. Smith gave the treasurer's report and Mrs. K. Weaver, R.R. 3, Stirling, presented both recording and corresponding secretaries' reports.

Under new business it was announced that the Bay of Quinte Conference W.A. was undertaking a project of providing a bursary to a deserving man or woman who is entering training for full time work in the Church. It was hoped that each local W.A. would send one dollar to the treasurer, Mrs. C. W. Smith, R.R. 1, Belleville, to be designated for this fund. Also two tape recordings, one on "The Work of Women in the Church" and the other on "Stewardship," are available for use by the locals. An invitation was extended to hold the 1961 meeting in St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora.

Greetings were brought by Mrs. C. Holmes, Belleville, President of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Belleville Presbytery, and Mrs. W. Weatherhead, of Sharbot Lake, 1st Vice-President of Bay of Quinte Conference W.A. Rev. D. Louie, pastor of St. John's, Tweed, extended a welcome from the Session of the Church, and also brought greetings from the Belleville Presbytery in the absence of its chairman, Rev. F. Whitley.

The President, Mrs. F. Davidson, reported a very busy but rewarding seven months since she had assumed office upon the resignation of the former President, Mrs. R. C. Jackson, due to ill health. Mrs. Davidson gave an excellent account of the annual meeting of Dominion Council W.A. held in Toronto last month. She thanked the ladies for affording Mrs. R. H. Smith, of Trenton, and herself the privilege of attending the sessions.

A violin solo by Mrs. V. Glover, of Marmora, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. McLeod, was much appreciated. Reports of the standing committees showed increased interest in the work of each department. Mrs. Davidson reported 94 locals have affiliated with Presbytery W.A. and that two new Federations — Centenary and Scott's, have been formed. Mrs. C. W. Sine presented an excellent report on literature.

The afternoon session opened with devotions taken by Mrs. Trenholm and Mrs. W. Kingery, of Northport. The reports given by the presidents of each of the seven districts showed that the rallies in the fall are proving of great benefit, providing good fellowship and exchange of ideas, particularly among the smaller rural associations.

The offering was taken by ladies from Queensboro W.A. and dedicated by Mrs. Conley, of Rose Hall. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Langdon, of Trenton, sang a lovely duet, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Gould.

Tromley — Brown Wedding Saturday

A lovely spring wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Brown, R.R. 5, Campbellford, on 12.30 noon on Saturday, May 28th, when their daughter, Mary Eleanor, was united in marriage to Mr. Arnold E. Tromley, son of Mrs. Fred Hunt and the late Mr. Walter Tromley, of Oshawa. Baskets of varied coloured spring flowers, lilies, tulips and peonies decorated the home. Rev. Gordon Whiteborne performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was radiant in a short wedding gown of chantilly lace and silk organza. A side panel featured fold on fold of the organza, with fill-in cascade effect to the bottom of the skirt. The portrait neckline was embroidered in sequins and pearls with the same motif etched on matching gloves and headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Vernon Wilson, of Belleville, as matron of honour. She wore a heavenly blue street length dress, with silk chiffon overskirt and self embroidered organza bodice and matching feathered cap. She carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses.

Mr. Vernon Wilson, Belleville, was groomsmen.

For the reception in Hoard's United Church the bride's mother wore a rosewood brocaded silk dress, with matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Owing to illness in the family the groom's mother was unable to attend.

The bride's table was covered with white damask and centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped by white bells and lily-of-the-valley and clouded about the base with white tulle and forget-me-nots. Tall white candles in silver holders and the bridal bouquets completed the setting.

For going away the bride chose a sage green suit with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids. After a brief honeymoon the young couple will reside at Canifiton, Ont.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Tromley, of Oshawa, and Mrs. Don Campbell, Belleville.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained by friends at numerous showers and was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

CONSERVATION NEWS

PROVINCIAL PARKS SAFETY

School will soon be out and the vacation season in.

During the school term a parent is almost certain of a child's safety for five and one half hours each day, five days a week.

Most parents readily adjust to the added child supervision "school out" involves, however, some assume Police, Municipal Playground Supervisors and Park Superintendents will provide the same vigil provided at school.

The fact that policemen, Municipal and Provincial Park Superintendents can only provide a small measure of supervision to the hundreds or thousands of children that are daily seeking fun and laughter, exercise and guidance. The rest is up to us the parents.

Ontario Provincial Parks are interested in helping you to send back to school safely next season a happy, healthy child.

During the past year the following observations have been made that could save your child's life or perhaps your own:

1. Water wings, inner tubes, air mattresses, aided by the slightest breeze will carry your child into deep water and trouble. When visiting a Provincial Park Beach please forget such articles, they are safer at home.
2. Hours of exposure to sun cause sunstroke, convulsions and pain. Sun should be enjoyed in small doses each day. A child's skin is tender and easily injured.

3. Some Park beaches and play grounds are large and will accommodate several thousand people. It is quite easy to lose your child in a crowd. Lost confused children will dart in front of cars or seek parents in deep water.

Watch your child at all times. Owing to the number of people a life-guard or park ranger cannot give individual attention to each park patron.

Don't back your car from the beach or parking lot before looking underneath. A small child with a sand pail may be enjoying the shade.

Drive To Hit Faulty Vehicles

The car with the faulty brakes, lights, signals, steering, exhaust, wipers, horn, tires or mirrors is the target of a road safety campaign to be conducted across Canada. Sponsored nationally by the Canadian Highway Safety Council, the drive will go by the slogan-title, "Check Your Car. Check Your Truck. Prevent Accidents," and is to have all-out support from provincial safety groups and the automobile, oil, tire and other industries.

The drive is organized by the Council's committee on vehicle safety. With national co-ordination by CHSC, the promotion will have two main power sources — industries through dealers, and provincial organizations through community safety councils. Strong additional support will come from the police who, in some areas, will conduct spot checks of vehicles on the highway.

Arthritis To Register

About 10" and replies are confidential.

"The purpose of the Registration," explains Preston Gilbride, of Toronto, President of the Ontario Division of C.A.R.S., "is to secure names and addresses of all who suffer from Arthritis in order that they may receive authentic literature; to encourage those who aren't receiving a doctor's care to do so — for prompt treatment may greatly minimize crippling; and to encourage them with the knowledge that much is being accomplished in the conquest of Arthritis."

Mr. Harold Smith, Secretary-Treasurer of the Ontario Retail Pharmacists' Association, says the Association welcomes the opportunity to co-operate in providing this service to Arthritis sufferers and "is in full accord with the aims of the Society."

For those who are unable to visit a drug store to register, a member of their family may do so or them.

Preliminary Engineering Report On Henry St. Bridge Given Council

Ask for Supplementary By- Law For Streets — Amend Bylaw Re Sewerage Rates

Mathers Associates, Consulting Engineers, who have been making a survey of the Henry Street Bridge and drainage of the area, presented their report at Monday night's Council meeting held in the Council Chambers. Reeve J. V. Holt presided and Councillors W. J. Morton, C. Bateman, B. Jones and H. R. Tompkins were in attendance.

Present Bridge In Poor Repair

In presenting the report Mr. Grant Locke pointed out that the raising of the level of Henry Street south of the present bridge and the subsequent raising of the land south and east of Henry St. for a park would have an effect on the flood waters in the spring of the year. The present bridge will not carry the flow of the creek in the spring at high level, consequently the stream will now flow over the road and flood buildings just north of the bridge. The channel at the bridge must be widened to prevent this flooding. The annual estimated flow of the creek at Stirling was approximately 153 cubic ft. per second, but the maximum flow when measured was 600 cu. ft. per second.

The present bridge, according to the report, is not acceptable for the loads involved in modern traffic and is in poor repair. The piers are in poor condition, having been eroded by the stream.

Proposed Cost

Mr. Locke presented a detailed statement of the complete cost of a single span, arch type, reinforced concrete bridge, with a channel width of 54 feet at $35,139.00.

A lengthy discussion ensued on the advisability of proceeding with this project, with Councillors being opposed to adding to the mill rate for this purpose.

30% Subsidy

It was pointed out that the Government subsidy would be 80 per cent, leaving approximately $7,000 as the Village Share of the cost. Reeve Holt contended that it would be possible to build the bridge out of current funds since little or no expense was contemplated on sidewalk or street construction.

It was finally agreed to make application to the Ontario Department of Highways for a supplementary bylaw for $40,000 to build the proposed bridge on Henry St. and other street expenses.

To Establish Teen Town

Ron Heath addressed Council on behalf of a "Teen Town" in the Village, asking for the use of the Community Hall on each Friday night. Due to limited funds they would like a reduced rate, stated Mr. Heath. A letter from G. C. Mouck, chairman of the Recreation Council, in support of the "Teen Town" was also tabled.

Members of Council were sympathetic to the request, but felt that the boys should be agreeable to withdraw their meeting if and when the hall were rented at the regular fee for another purpose. This was agreed upon and on motion of Councillors Bateman and Morton the request was granted for the months of July and August.

Michael E. Donohoe, of Newburgh, interviewed Council re the position of deputy Clerk. No action was taken.

Police Chief D. M. Ketcheson listed some needed supplies and on motion of Councillors Bateman and Jones the matter was left in the hands of the Property Committee.

B. Woodbeck interviewed Council relative to closing that part of Nancy Street which crosses his property, which he would like to purchase; also re the purchase of lots on east side of North St. which he sold the Village some years ago. The matter was left in abeyance.

D. W. Rodgers addressed Council re financing the new High School. On his suggestion it was agreed that Council would meet with representatives of the Board and representatives of financial houses on Monday, June 27th at 3 p.m. to discuss the matter in full.

Correspondence was tabled from Tomiskaming Construction re opening 12:30 a.m.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

NO POKER GAME

I think it is time that business in Canada got a better break.

This suggestion will bring me a host of irate letters from crackpots and some blasts from the socialists who have a compulsive hatred for private enterprise.

But the tendency to achieve popularity by disparaging big business is altogether too widespread. Let some unthinking character in a pool hall suggest, with a wink, that such-and-such a company really owns some other company and all their products are made in the same vats, and most of the other folk present find it easier to nod their heads than argue. And there is always the smug implication that we could be rich and successful if we, too, would stoop to the methods of big business.

Among newspapermen, too, there is the feeling that it is rather easy to be popular if you are willing to become a sort of poor man's champion — by knocking successful men. These writers know that the majority of readers are not industrial leaders, so they might welcome the suggestion that it is not because they lack drive and initiative, but that they are honest.

This kind of writing was very evident when Davis Fulton, Minister of Justice, proposed to amend The Combines Investigation Act. Some of these writers suggested that the Act ought to be left very vague, and the Director given tremendous power, because it enabled the Department of Justice to keep business in line through a sort of poker game. "Keep business off balance," was one suggestion, sure to ring bells in the hearts of readers who are poor.

They'll be a darn sight poorer and so will all of us if the Act continues to remain so vague a manager doesn't know where he stands! Industrial giants in other countries, with far more certainty of action, will be able to wipe out industrialists (and their employees) right out of the market place. And since we now depend more than any other major industrial nation on our foreign trade, may the Lord help us if that does happen.

Sure there ought to be laws to keep industry in line. But the laws should be clear. It is no poker game to be played by the Department of Justice. It is the livelihood of millions of Canadians that is to be considered. Let's not have our hatred of business built up to such a pitch that we send our traders out into world markets in strait-jackets!

THE BIBLE TODAY

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

In the Bible House library on Victoria Street, London, there are more than 20,000 volumes of Scripture which may be seen by visitors each week from Monday to Friday and on Saturdays by request.

On display is the book of the "Gospels of the Four Evangelists," translated in the old Saxon tongue out of Latin into the Vulgate tongue of the Saxons, newly collected out of ancient monuments of the said Saxons and now published for testimony of the same, at London. Cium privilegie regie Majestatis per Decennium Over Aldersgate, 1571." Other volumes in Welsh and Irish published in 1567 and 1571 are there together with St. Matthew in the Manx tongue, a branch of the Gaelic family of languages.

Copies of the Scriptures in many languages stand side by side with the English Bibles and the revisions which have taken place over the centuries. Here the quaint language of Tyndall may be compared with the authorized versions of 1611 and the American revised version of 1946. Soon to be added will be the new English translation of which the New Testament is to be issued in 1961.

Some of these volumes are the only ones in existence and visitors to London can spend an interesting hour at the Bible House, 1446 Queen Victoria Street, London.

Steel Co. of Canada
50th Anniversary

Wednesday, June 8th marked the 50th Anniversary of Canada's largest integrated steel producer, The Steel Company of Canada, Limited.

The merger of five smaller Canadian steel companies as Stelco in 1910 climaxed months of negotiations led by a young, aggressive Canadian, W. M. (Max) Aitken. It was this same Max Aitken who, later in England, became even better known as Lord Beaverbrook.

The company Beaverbrook put together helped meet the steel demands of a fast-growing nation expanding to the west. In its first full year of operation Stelco produced about 93,000 tons of steel, equal to about 11 per cent of the nation's steel production. This year its capacity will reach 3,000,000 ingot tons or nearly 45 per cent of Canada's steel output. The company ranks 11th in size in North America with a capacity similar to well-known American plants like Kaiser Steel and Colorado Fuel and Iron.

Since its incorporation in 1910, Stelco has turned out more than 37,000,000 tons of the tough, adaptable metal which contributed greatly to the high North American standard of living. Stelco steel has been worked into nearly every part of everyday Canadian living and, during two world wars, made a significant contribution to the defence of the country. During World War II this Company produced all the steel plate used in the building of Canadian corvettes.

Throughout its 50 years Stelco has remained a Canadian-owned company following the pattern set for it by its founders. More than 91 per cent of the Company's shares are held in Canada.

Supplying only the Canadian market, Stelco has had to face continual threats to its domestic markets from overseas steel producers operating with lower wage costs and frequently with government aid. To meet this competition the Company has been aggressive in developing outstanding and sometimes revolutionary production methods.

A recent example of this policy was the introduction of successful self-fluxing sinter operations to North America in 1959. Stelco has also been credited with pioneering in the internal use of blast furnace and coke oven gases and developing the Spiral Ardox nail in 1953.

Today, Stelco employs more than 15,000 people in seven Canadian communities and has representatives in all provinces. The Company also shares in operation of an iron ore mine in Quebec and in extensive ore holdings in Newfoundland. In 1959, Stelco paid more than $86 million in total employment costs, earned a net profit in excess of $32 million.

The Dunkley family attended the Martin — Ashton wedding ceremony Friday evening at the Rawdon Parsonage.

Mrs. H. C. David and daughter, Mrs. Douglas Smith and Miss Lenora Williams, attended the morning church service and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira David and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Wrightman spent Sunday with Mrs. A. A. Farrar, Trenton.

Surprise Party On Silver Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Isaac and children, of Belleville, were supper guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Knight on Wednesday, June 1st.

About 9 p.m. about thirty-five relatives and friends gathered at the same home and tendered Don and Ruby a surprise party on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. The evening was spent in cards and impromptu speeches. The honored couple were the recipients of a silver tea service and a large array of other gifts. The committee in charge served bountiful refreshments.

Mission Band

Thirty-two children attended the Mission Band Sunday morning at the Church Hall. Miss Linda Summers presided and all repeated the Mission Band Purpose. Betty McAdam read Romans 12 and Sally McAdam offered prayer. Mary Summers gathered the offering. The Treasurer has remitted $25.00 to the Treasurer of Belleville Presbyterian.

Mrs. Harry McAdam synopsized the study chapter, "A Herd Boy in Southern Rhodesia." Miss Janet Fletcher gave a film on Africa. Readings were given by Karen Summers, Lorraine Jeffs, Kalvin Sharp and Jim Scott. Bonnie Williams contributed a solo.

The next meeting will be on June 26th and Janet Scott and Nancy David will arrange the programme. The meeting closed with "Jesus Tender Shepherd."

Since 1946 the Canadian labour force has increased by 1.4 million persons and a reduction in farm employment from 1,270,000 to about 700,000 has added that many more to the non-farm force in the period.

COOKIES YOU'LL LIKE

From the "favourite recipe files" in Canada's Kitchen we've chosen two recipes for squares and one each for drop, rolled and sliced cookies. You'll notice that all recipes call for butter... as good in cookies as in all the other foods it makes better.

Refrigerator Pinwheels

- 1 cup butter
- 1/2 cup brown sugar (sifted)
- 1 cup white sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 squares chocolate, melted

Cream butter and add sugar. Add unbeaten egg and mix well. Add flavouring. Sift flour with soda and salt and add one third at a time to the butter mixture. Divide dough in half.

To one half add melted chocolate. Roll each half separately into rectangles of the same size, about 1/2 inch thick. Place chocolate piece on top of white one and press the 2 portions together. Roll like a jelly roll.

Wrap in waxed paper on aluminum foil and refrigerate or freeze. Slice and bake on a cookie sheet in a hot oven (400 degs. F.) 6 to 8 minutes. Yield: Approximately 5 dozen. Cost — approximately 11c a dozen.

Cheese Dreams

- 1 cup butter
- 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese (medium or old)
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 2 cups all-purpose flour

Cream together butter, cheese and sugar. Gradually add flour stirring until well blended. Pat the mixture into a pan (9"x9"). Bake in a moderate oven (350 degs. F.) for 30 minutes.

Topping
2 cups tart, red jelly
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
Spread jelly over the baked mixture. Combine the butter, flour and brown sugar and sprinkle on top of the jelly. Return to oven and bake in a moderate oven (350 degs. F.) for 5 minutes. Yield: 4 1/2 dozen (1 1/2 squares). Cost — Approximately 20c per dozen.

Jam Squares

- 1/2 cup sugar

1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour or 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour

- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1-8 teaspoon salt
- Grated rind of 1 lemon
- 1-3 cup butter
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup raspberry jam

Mix and sift together sugar, flour, baking powder and salt. Add grated lemon rind. Cut in butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles fine oatmeal. Add well-beaten egg, blending thoroughly. Press 2-3 of the mixture into a greased 7"x7" cake pan, dot with the jam. Drop the remaining 1-3 of the dry mixture by spoonfuls on the jam. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degs. F.) until lightly browned, 40 to 45 minutes. Those are best when eaten fresh. Yield: 4 dozen (1 1/2 squares). Cost — approximately 10c per dozen.

Sugar Cookies

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- Or 1 1/2 cups pastry flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon almond

Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Add unbeaten egg and mix well. Sift flour with cream of tartar, soda, and salt. Add gradually to the mixture. Add vanilla and almond flavouring. Wrap and chill. Roll 1-8 inch thick, cut with cookie cutter. Sprinkle each cookie with sugar and place on slightly buttered cookie sheet. Bake in hot oven (400 degs. F.) 8 to 10 minutes. When cookies are cool store in a tin box. Yield: 4 dozen. Cost — approximately 8c a dozen.

Fruity Drops

- 1-3 cup butter
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons milk (approximately)
- 1/2 cup chopped dates
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon flavouring
- 1-3 cup chopped walnuts

Cream butter and sugar, add egg and beat well. Add flavouring, then flour sifted with baking powder, milk, fruit and nuts. Mix. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degs. F.)

for 15 minutes. Yield: 7 dozen. Cost — approximately 7c a dozen.

E. J. Chard, Stirling President Bay of Quinte U.E.L.

Another important event became history when the United Empire Loyalists met for its fourth annual May meeting at Adolphustown. The occasion was the first general meeting in the 1878 David W. Allison House shortly to become a Quinte Loyalist Museum early this summer, which is situated in the beautiful Adolphustown Park skirting the lovely Bay of Quinte with its sandy beach, camp sites and recreational park of the Ontario-St. Lawrence Development Commission, under the chairmanship of the Hon. George H. Chalmers.

The retiring President, Miss K. McFarland, of Napanee, conducted a resume of the year's accomplishments before passing the gavel over to Mr. E. J. Chard, of Stirling, the incoming President.

Some of the special occasions recalled were the unveiling of the plaque at the June picnic by Mr. John D. Van Alstine, of Trenton, commemorating the landing of U.E.L.'s bateau on June 18th, 1784, under his great-great-grandfather Major Peter Van Alstine. It was erected by the Historical Sites Board of the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity. The ceremony was conducted by the chairman, Capt. J. A. C. Rogers, the Commission, and civic dignitaries. On October 18th the Toronto Branch of the U.E.L. deposited replicas of the colours of the Queens Rangers (1st American Regiment) at a very impressive ceremony in St. Alban the Martyr Memorial Church here. At the November meeting in Belleville, one of our most valued members and genealogist, Dr. H. C. Burleigh, of Bath, delivered a literary and amusing account of the "Bath Gunpowder Plot."

It was during this year that Governor-General Vanier became our Patron as Her Majesty's Representative in Canada.

In March at the Napanee meeting a detailed and very informative speech on the "Reason for the British Defeat in the American Revolutionary War" was given by the President of the Toronto Branch, Major F. R. Branscombe.

At a joint executive meeting with representatives of the Commission, Mr. R. L. Way, Director of Buildings and Sites, was very helpful in offering directions and assistance for the forthcoming opening of the Quinte Loyalist Museum in this Allison House. Mr. Way noted the effort by the Commission in providing protection and security — the over-size pumping system and fire protection throughout, lightning rods, special security measures and twenty-four hour surveillance. Mr. Todd, of the Royal Ontario Museum, arranged for a loan of display cases.

The President noted the far-reaching publicity resulting from a press report on our Bay of Quinte Branch in the "Faces of Canada," which became a CP feature and brought numerous inquiries from coast to coast, seeking the establishment of other branches. Since then, Miss McFarland has been appointed chairman of Branch Development Committee for the Dominion Council. On behalf of the members Miss McFarland praised the retiring Recording Secretary, Miss Edith Allison, for her invaluable contributions during the formative years of the local branch in developing the organization to approximately two hundred members. Miss Allison will continue her talents in the role of Vice-President, and on the museum committee.

The Treasurer, Mr. Harry G. Blakely, gave his report and the auditors, Mr. Van Skiver and Mr. David Webster, of Picton, found the books in perfect order. Mr. Maurice Young, of Bath, reported for the property committee, while Mr. Cummings Davenport, of Napanee, reported the new members for the past year. The new members were: Warner McFaul, of Consecon; Earl B. Conger, M.B.E., of Ottawa; Wm. D. Roblin, of Lindsay; Edward Blake Young, of Carrying Place; Mrs. Helen Webster, Picton; Bruce E. Embury, Madoc; Eleanor Alysaworth, of Napanee; Mrs. Jessie Hagerman, Napanee; Miss Olive Hamby, of Napanee; Mrs. Eleanor Kingsbury, Kingston.

Dr. H. C. Burleigh, the genealogist, read the applications of Hon. Duff Roblin, Winnipeg; Mr. Hudson F. Huff, Bloomfield; Miss Mary Huff, Bloomfield; Mrs. Stella Fraser, of Picton; Mr. Bruce Davis, Napanee; Miss Mabel A. Fairfield, Bath; Mrs. J. A. C. Rogers, Picton. Those new members were given a warm reception into the Branch.

Mr. E. J. Chard, chairman for the museum committee, reported regional meetings among the thirty-eight collectors, organized from Kingston to Toronto. These collectors had worked very hard during the past year in locating specific U.E.L. articles.

Mr. Chard mentioned the particular plan of designating one of the rooms for an U.E.L. library and archives. Already many contributions were promised in area Canadiana, U.E.L. family histories, genealogy, manuscripts, old maps, and books, pertinent to the period. This room is to be supervised by a well trained and informed member.

In remembering the stalwart members who passed away during the year, those present paid silent respect to F. J. T. Maines, Waterloo; R. J. Allison, Adolphustown; Mrs. Mable McDougall, Belleville; Robert Galt, Bath; J. A. Post, Wellington; C. F. Allison, Adolphustown, and H. R. Pollock, of Toronto, who assisted greatly in organizing the Branch.

The president then spoke of recent developments at the Park and the extensive renovations being done by the Ontario-St. Lawrence Commission to the Allison House in preparation for the opening of the museum early this summer. Miss McFarland voiced the appreciation of the members for making available this fine accommodation for the Association.

Lt.-Col. Wm. Davern, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the slate of officers for the ensuing year as follows:

Social Convener — Mrs. Mildred Roblin, Bath

Honorary Vice-Presidents (who have contributed greatly to the organization) — Mrs. M. Fairfield Gutzelt and Mr. E. Claude Young, were re-elected Honorary Members (who have rendered assistance and interest in the Association) — Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Q.C.; Hon. Geo. H. Chalmers and Mr. Norris Whitney.

Mr. Chard assumed the office of President and in his remarks gave a sketch of the plan for 1960. He referred to the first U.E.L.'s who had exemplified a grim determination and sense of urgency, and suggested that we use this heritage in seeing the fruition of those several projects already in progress as well as the commencement of new ones. It was noted in particular, that it will be a memorable occasion and pride to one's descendants to become a member of the branch this year when all can share in the establishment of the Quinte Loyalist Museum.

Mr. Chard explained that the brochure given out this evening on the "Historic Sites of the Bay of Quinte," was the culmination of a lot of research, mainly by Mr. E. Claude Young, Dr. H. C. Burleigh and Capt. J. A. C. Rogers. The booklets will be distributed to the two hundred members, some one hundred museum and Ontario Historical Societies, libraries, and Chamber of Commerce in the greater area, and any who may wish a copy.

On behalf of the various committees set up, the President made an appeal to everyone for family histories (have the older community members set these down before the memory of them is lost; we can eventually piece the whole historical pageantry together). There is need, also, for very early manuscripts, maps, atlases, more facts on U.E.L. historical places and Canadiana of the area, as well as listings and exact locations of U.E.L. cemeteries and the remnants of farm burial plots. Tourists come to us each year looking for traces of where their early ancestors were buried.

Rev. Bowen Squire, of Consecon, spoke briefly and exhibited his many fine oil paintings on pioneer life.

The cutting of the four-tier cake then followed, being the occasion of the fourth anniversary of the Branch, and the first general meeting to be held in the historic Allison House. Miss Mary Allison, daughter of David W. Allison, the first resident, was present for the event. The delicious refreshments were arranged by Mrs. Mildred Roblin, Mrs. Peggy Roblin, Mrs. Gennevieve Roblin and Mrs. Kayler.

At the close of the evening there was a social hour in which the members related fascinating stories about the various museum articles they had brought for conversational pieces.

The next meeting will take the form of a U.E.L. annual pilgrimage to the Shrine in the Adolphustown Park on the afternoon of Saturday, June 18th. Members are asked to bring a basket lunch.

But waste baskets and gutters are constantly being filled with unopened expensive direct advertising, sales ammunition shot into the air.

A newspaper always commands an audience with prospective customers. It is never thrown aside without first being read from cover to cover. Then it is borrowed by the neighbours.

That's why intelligent attractive newspaper advertising is accepted as the most effective form of advertising your business.

An advertisement in this paper will reach most of the buyers in the local trade territory.

The cost is very small, and besides we do the mailing and pay the postage

FARM ORGANIZATION HAS PIONEERED A NEW METHOD OF SELLING THEIR SURPLUS PRODUCT

Ontario Cheddar Cheese is a "world famous product," and the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board is endeavouring to export the surplus. The United Kingdom market is the chief outlet for Ontario cheese and the Cheese Producers' Organization is merchandising the product in Great Britain. During the war years the Government, through necessity, requisitioned the cheese production of this country and sold it to the British Ministry of Food as part of our war effort. In the post-war years the Ministry of Food continues to import cheddar cheese, but, because of dollar restrictions, importations were curtailed. Since 1954 the British Ministry of Food has discontinued the purchase of cheese from this country and the pre-war United Kingdom importers have been free to buy on their own, but under dollar quotas. These money restrictions limited the amount of cheese which could be purchased to approximately 12 million pounds per year, depending on the price.

Since the war cheese production has decreased in Ontario, partly because of the low prices and partly because new dairy products were introduced. A great many cheese factories have been forced to close, some were amalgamated into larger plants and others ceased operating because of the lack of milk. During this period, either the Government or the Cheese Producers' Marketing Board built up large inventories in the heavy production season and then attempted to sell them late in the fall or the following year. The British importer knew of these large holdings and they were reluctant to purchase because they feared a "fire sale." Sometimes large quantities of cheese were dumped on the British market late in the season and this had a depressing effect. During the last couple of years the Ontario Cheese Producers' Organization has realized that this type of selling is not in the best interest of the cheese industry and have been merchandising the product on the United Kingdom market in an orderly fashion. 1959 was an excellent example, when the cheese was sold to the British importers on a week to week basis. Since before World War II the English consumer has had little acquaintance with our Ontario cheese as such. Last year's method of merchandising has introduced it again into their grocery stores and supermarkets, and demand for it has increased. To satisfy this demand the importer must have a guarantee of product for his customers at all times. At the same time this regular method of selling has created a healthy domestic market in Ontario and the farmer received record prices for cheese. Good merchandising is important in selling any product.

Ontario Cheddar cheese sells at a premium on the United Kingdom market over other types, such as that manufactured in New Zealand, Australia, and even their home produced cheddar, and to maintain this premium we must export quality product only. With England's economy high and practically no unemployment, there are exceptionally good prospects of exporting the surplus cheese during the coming production season, at a substantial premium.

Mr. H. C. Arnold, Chairman of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board, has just returned from a visit to the United Kingdom and found the importers anxious to buy Canadian cheese. He is more certain than ever that our Ontario Cheddar cheese is a "world-famous" product. Mr. Arnold states that the English importer is willing to pay a premium for this year's production and that they are most anxious to have a continuity of supply for their customers throughout the year.

The Producers' Association has pioneered a new selling method for Canadian cheese. They are using the advance selling technique and have already sold a very large quantity of summer make. Much of the milk that goes into the manufacture of this product will not be produced for several months yet. Selling a product months before it has been manufactured is something new in merchandising, especially where millions of dollars are involved. It can only be accomplished when a great deal of respect and good will exists between both buyer and seller. 1960 looks like a prosperous year for the Canadian cheese industry.

WEED OF THE WEEK THE THISTLE FAMILY

How often have you felt a sharp pain and plucked a thistle spine from your finger? Annoying, isn't it? The odds are that you will experience this frequently because, according to the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, members of the thistle family are numerous and well distributed in Ontario.

The aristocrats of this notorious family are Canada and Bull Thistle. Canada Thistle is a hardy perennial which emigrated from Europe in pioneer days. It has running root stalks which made eradication very difficult. Bull Thistle, a biennial, is a close relative of the Canada Thistle. It grows to a height of 3 to 4 feet and produces woolly hairs on the underside of its leaves. Other relatives: the Nodding Thistle, the Scotch Thistle, and the Perennial and Annual Sow Thistles.

In old pastures, low in clover and alfalfa, 16 ounces of 2,4-D low volatile ester acid in 5 to 200 gallons of water per acre, applied in late spring, will control thistles. In new seedings and mature meadows, high in alfalfa, 20 to 24 ounces of 2,4-DB (trade name "Embutox E") acid in at least 15 gallons of water per acre gives good control thistles. In new seedings and corn, and grain not seeded down, by 8 ounces of 2,4-D amine acid in 5 to 20 gallons of water per acre applied when the corn or grain is six inches high.

For more detailed information see Ontario Department of Agriculture Circular 75A — "Your Guide to Chemical Weed Control in Field Crops" — available from your Agricultural Representative Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Ontario To Initiate Certified Swine Policy

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture, has announced the initiation of a certified policy for swine aimed at the eradication of atrophic rhinitis and virus pneumonia.

While both diseases are seldom the direct cause of death in pigs, both contribute to the general lack of health in herds where the infection is present. As a result pigs with either disease require three to four weeks longer than healthy pigs to reach market weight. In addition these two diseases often lower resistance to other diseases that may prove fatal.

At present there is no known cure, nor is there any reliable test for either of these diseases. Positive diagnosis can only be made by post mortem examination.

The objective of this programme is to establish breeding herds that are presumed to be free from these diseases.

All herds enrolled under this policy that show no evidence of the diseases at the time of the first inspection will be placed under surveillance for a period of one year. During that time periodical inspections will be made by provincial veterinarians, and any pigs suspected of being infected with either of these diseases will be ordered slaughtered and subjected to post mortem examinations. If during the year no evidence of these diseases is uncovered, the breeder will be eligible to receive a certificate attesting to the fact that his herd is free of atrophic rhinitis and virus pneumonia. Certificates will be withheld until the herd has shown no symptoms of these diseases for at least one year.

Where evidence of either disease is uncovered at the time of the original inspection, it will be necessary for the breeder to establish a new herd, founded on disease-free stock, before his application will be accepted. Two methods whereby disease-free herds might be established on the basis of selections from the existing herds are presently available. One is to select sows from the herds that show no evidence of these diseases, remove them to new quarters and raise their offspring under conditions which prevent contact with other pigs.

The other method involves surgery. The unborn litter may be taken from the sow by a caesarean operation. Since these diseases are not communicated from the dam to the unborn pigs, surgery makes possible the removal of a litter from a diseased sow without danger of the little pigs becoming infected by their mothers. Facilities will be established at the Ontario Veterinary College for performing these operations, and will be available to breeders who wish to establish rhinitis and virus pneumonia-free herds by the surgical method.

Every minute throughout the year Canada produces 20 tons of pulp and paper.

Who's In Control

POWER MOWERS . . . to many thousands of home-owners the name means "grass cutting made easy." What a relief after pushing that heavy hand mower, to change places and let the mower do the work! But wait . . . have they quite changed places? The man still controls the machine. And while the machine has developed in complexity to the point where it can nearly do the whole job, man, who guides it, is still his same old-fashioned, pre-automation self. This combination gives rise to a brand new set of problems, but don't worry, there's an easy solution to them . . . by streamlining the man to watch!

Streamlined Man

This isn't as complicated as it sounds. In fact it's easy. Man has already matched wits with far more complex inventions, with fair success. The power mower is a relatively easy opponent, and man is already equipped to grapple with it.

Here's All You Do:

Count up all the potential problems with power mowers; flying objects, injured hands and feet, electric shocks and flash fires. Then compensate for all these possibilities, and it boils down to these few tips, offered by the Ontario Safety League.

1. Begin the season with complete mower inspection and servicing.
2. Flying objects: Remove stones and litter from your lawn before mowing.
3. Injuries: Start motor with feet well away from blade and don't try to clear debris from blade while motor is running. Wear sturdy shoes for sure footing. Keep children off lawn while mowing, and don't go away and leave mower running.

4. Flashfires: Never refuel when mower is running or even hot. Instead, fill up before mowing. Store gasoline in marked, tightly sealed tin.

5. Electric shocks: When grass is wet it's best not to use an electric power mower unless you are certain the mower and cord are in perfect order.

That's all there is. Now you're a match for your mower!

Timely Tips

If you are thinking about letting your cattle graze your oats, keep corn in mind. Corn and cob meal, pound for pound, contains as much total digestible nutrients as oat chop, says Agricultural Representative LeRoy Brown. It means that 1 bushel of corn and cob meal (70 pounds) is equal in feeding value to 2 bushels (68 pounds) of oat chop. On this basis a 60 bushel corn crop provides twice as much grain feed as a 60 bushel oat crop.

If you're having trouble getting twitch grass out of low, wet spots in a twitch-infested corn field — try small factories in themselves.

amino triazole. Spray the twitch when it's 3 to 4 inches high, wait till it turns white, then roll it under and seed the corn, says Charles Kingsbury of the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Amino triazole will give you 80 per cent control for 6 to 8 weeks while the corn gets a good start.

If you're looking for some practical pasture management ideas it might pay to enter your County Pasture Competition. The county judges who are either former winners or trained specialists will give you a lot of sound advice when they look over your pastures in June and August, says Howard Henry, field crops specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Your local Agricultural Representative has application forms and entry requirements.

Keep children away from roses and other flowers that have been sprayed or dusted with insecticides. They might eat the poisoned flower petals, warns Hal Wright, Ontario Department of Agriculture Safety Specialist.

Paper-making machines are indeed a twitch-infested corn field — try small factories in themselves.

Stirling Chamber of Commerce Makes Plans For Business Promotion

To Request Conservation Area South of Oak Lake — Hold Membership Drive

An enthusiastic meeting of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce was held in the Council Chambers Tuesday night, with Geo. Lyons, President, in the chair. Eugene Burrell fulfilled the duties of Secretary.

Reeve J. V. Holt introduced the matter of having the height of land south of Oak Lake made into a conservation area. After considerable discussion it was agreed to contact Michael Chubb, Secretary of the Moira Conservation Authority, requesting that this height of land be made a part of the Moira Conservation Authority.

To Promote Business

A lengthy discussion ensued on ways and means of promoting more business for the Village. The installation of the sewerage system, with its disruption of traffic, and the road construction programme in the Village had seriously affected business and once the streets were put into shape it was felt that there should be a drive to restore and improve former business conditions in the village.

Tentative plans were also discussed for the Christmas shopping season, when prizes will be offered for the best decorated store front and residence.

Membership Drive

Having in mind the importance of an active Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to have a canvas for membership within the next two weeks. This organization is the ideal liaison organization between the commercial world and government and must be kept going. It is the best means of settling problems among merchants and has had many fine accomplishments to its credit in the past.

Let's keep Stirling Chamber of Commerce alive. When the canvasser calls on you say "yes" and join your fellow citizens in supporting a worthwhile organization.

Miss Devolin was presented with a corsage and the evening was spent in making a bride's book, games and contests. Mrs. Ernest Wanamaker gave a reading.

The bride-to-be was given a seat of honour in a decorated chair and Mrs. Maryann Scott read an appropriate address. The numerous gifts were presented by Mrs. Hugh Lyons and Miss Jean Eggleton. St. Paul's W.A. Hosts To District Societies

On Tuesday afternoon, June 13th, nine visiting organizations gathered at St. Paul's United Church to join with their group in a splendid programme and Blossom Tea.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. A. Packman and Mrs. C. Davidson. Ushers for the day were Mrs. E. Wilson and Mrs. T. W. Beatty. Mrs. H. West played quiet music while all were seated. The Church was decorated with standards of spring blossoms.

The President opened the meeting by the use of the W.A. motto and theme hymn. She then extended a warm, hearty welcome to all.

The devotional had been prepared by Mrs. M. McTiernan and was conducted by Mrs. W. Harlow. All joined in singing the hymn, "God of Mercy, God of Grace." Mrs. Harlow read a paper prepared on the theme of the day, "Church Women and Missions." The Scripture lesson, taken from St. Luke 9: 4-11, was read by Mrs. L. Thompson. Mrs. R. Bush gave the message on the Bible reading. She described the practical everyday application of the parable of the Sower. Miss Wendy Warren favoured with a lovely solo. The offering was taken and Mrs. A. Packman dedicated it to the Refugee Year with a prayer. The devotional was closed by all singing "Behold Us, Lord, a Little Space."

St. Paul's W.A. accepted an invitation to go to Bethel on June 16th. The next W.A. meeting will be at Oak Lake at the cottage of Mrs. Nina Morton.

A short play was put on by six of the W.A. members entitled, "The Baker's Dozen," and told the story of an elderly church lady feeling as though she was no longer useful to anyone, but after a visit from another member who told her they needed her at the church, she picked right up and felt like a new woman.

Mrs. D. Duffin introduced Mrs. R. H. Smith, from King Street United Church, Trenton. She is chairman of the Devotional Committee of Belleville W.A. Presbytery. She told the women how to go about preparing a worship service. She then divided her listeners into groups, with each group choosing a part in a worship service with the theme "Renewing Our Faith." A very good worship service was presented in less than 10 minutes.

Mrs. R. A. Patterson thanked her for her fine talk and demonstration. All repeated the W.A. Benediction.

The President then invited the ladies downstairs to lunch. The tables were daintily laid and were decorated with low bowls of spring blossoms.

Mrs. R. Duffin thanked Mrs. M. Maguire's group and the W.A. executive for the splendid afternoon. Mrs. A. Pye replied on behalf of the visitors, thanking St. Paul's for their invitation.

The following year he was promoted to district office supervisor for the Ottawa Valley district and in 1958 he was appointed a unit manager in Ottawa, a post he has held until now.

Mr. Proctor, who has been manager for this region since 1932, was born in Walkerton, Ontario, and received his education in Owen Sound, where he joined the Bell company in 1919 as chief clerk. In 1923 he was named manager at Midland. Before coming here in 1932, he held managerial posts in Orillia and Kingston.

The retiring manager is well known to area residents, being an active member of the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Belleville Club and the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club. In addition, he is a former member of the Belleville Board of Education.

River Valley W.I. June Meeting Hears Reports

Mrs. Ernest Carr was hostess on Thursday for the June meeting of River Valley Women's Institute, with an attendance of 20, including two visitors from Plainfield W.I.

Mrs. Roy Tucker, President, opened the meeting and thanked everyone who had contributed to the success of the recent 50th anniversary.

Mrs. George Hensman gave a report of the May meeting and outlined the finances to date. Correspondence included a thank you card from Chatterton W.I. A letter from Miss Helen McKercher, director of Home Economics Service, Department of Agriculture, dealing with a district workshop based on the theme, "Food and Nutrition," was read. The theme will be "Eat to Live." Later Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Ross Holland were appointed to attend this all day session.

Reports On Achievement Day

Mrs. Gerald Brooks reported on the 4-H Girls Achievement Day and said the River Valley Guardians received special mention for their song.

The President has offered to keep tab on the Canada Packers' coupons and they can be handed in at meetings.

The insurance, expenses to the District Annual meeting and other accounts, were authorized to be paid. It was decided to order coffee spoons for sale to members at 25 cents each.

The ladies were informed that if anyone is interested in donating their eyes after death there is a special leaflet with all particulars which can be obtained. Mrs. William Hipwell of Stirling, can supply full information.

Mrs. Ross Bush read a few items from recent copies of "The Countrywoman," including "Preparation For Old Age" and "My Most Treasured Possession."

The July meeting will be "Children's Day" at the school house. There will be a school competition for posters and games.

The Secretary was authorized to write a few "thank you" letters for gifts received, including the memorial mirror in loving memory of Mrs. Carman Frost, which was donated by her husband and daughter. A congratulatory card was signed by those in attendance and will be mailed to Miss Rose Anne Vandervoort who recently graduated as a nurse.

The public relations officer mentioned that a summary of the year's work of River Valley W.I., which she had prepared, was read by Miss Jayne Gay over the air on May 23rd.

The Friendship Link Secretary reported a message from Abbot's Leigh W.I. in England. They entered 36 exhibits at the produce Exhibition and received 17 gold, 11 silver and 7 green stars. The drama group received a silver star in the Festival.

Present Souvenirs

Mrs. Roy Bush presented the President and the Secretary each with a copy of "Fifty Years of Achievement" as a special souvenir of the 50th anniversary of River Valley W.I. The gift was on behalf of all the members. The recipients expressed thanks.

The programme was convened by Mrs. Ross Holland and Mrs. Stanley Irvin. The latter presided, and read a poem, "Dishpan Philosophy," found in a 1958 "Home and Country" magazine. The secretary led the sing-song which included "Friends and Neighbours" and other selections.

Mrs. Ross Holland gave an interesting paper on the motto "Don't Let Your Wasteline Vanish," in which she outlined the value of eating proper foods and counting calories.

Mrs. Ernest Carr gave a concise report of the morning session of West Hastings district annual held in Scott's United Church and Mrs. Ralph Utman summarized the afternoon proceedings and read the list of officers elected.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks read an interesting article on "Country Life" which was followed by the singing of "Keep Your Sunny Side Up."

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Public Relations Officer, gave a half hour message on the sessions of the 12th Annual Officers' Conference held at the War Memorial Hall, O.A.C.C. Guelph, May 4th to 6th. The conference theme by Edmund Burke was "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil, is that good men do nothing."

The guided bus tour of the grounds gave the delegates a chance to view the campus. The special welcome was given by Mr. J. A. Eccles, and the sing-songs were under the direction of Rev. W. A. Young, college chaplain, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kidd on the organ and piano, respectively. Songs included "Hymn of All Nations" and "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands."

The meals were appetizing and everyone was made welcome.

Entertainment included vocal solos, the Coronation Dancers, a midget show, a doll parade of fashions and films.

The discussion groups on "Duties of Public Relation Officers," were very educational, Mrs. MacMullen said. A great deal of Institute procedure was covered and the new "Hand Book" which will be distributed in November will be of great assistance to the officers.

All of one afternoon was devoted to the following theme: "Today communities are widening, windows are opening on world scenes, and women must appreciate the need of keeping education in step with the times," she said.

Mrs. L. G. Lymburner, FWIO President, told the delegates to "recognize your own special talent and then share it and remember the best way to become truly important is to improve by doing little things."

On Thursday evening a chicken banquet was provided for approximately one thousand guests by the Department of Agriculture on the occasion of the visit of Mrs. E. J. Roylance, of Greenwood, B.C., the new FWIC President.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow spoke in glowing terms of agriculture and said it would always be the basic industry. He stressed no other occupation depends so much on a woman as does farming. He also welcomed the group on behalf of his department.

Mrs. Roylance gave a brief summary of the two weeks spent in Edinburgh, Scotland, last year, while attending ACWW.

The next triennial will be held in October, 1962, in Melbourne, Australia, and the theme will be "The Country Woman's Part in a Changing World." Dr. Nancy Adams will visit the Caribbean and will be in Montreal in August to attend the "World Conference on Adult Education." Mrs. Van Beekhoff, ACWW President, plans to visit Canada and the United States in 1961.

In 1956 the first Institute branches were organized in the Yukon. Now the Canadian government has paid a compliment to the Women's Institutes of Canada, by asking that a woman be appointed, at their expense, to visit and explore the possibility of establishing groups there.

There were two educational health talks given by Dr. Wallace Graham on "The Problem of Arthritis," and by Mrs. W. F. Pepper on "Retarded Children."

An impressive memorial service was held for Mrs. Hugh Summers, of Saskatchewan, Vice-President of the ACWW. A summary was given of her work at Guelph in 1947 and at Toronto in 1953 when she was hostess to the triennial meeting.

Miss Helen McKercher, Director of Home Economics Services, gave a of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clancy.

Mrs. Maurice Clancy, Belleville Presbyterian Mission Band Secretary, attended the conference held for Mission Band and Explorer leaders, which was held on Thursday afternoon at Holloway Street United Church in Belleville. Miss Joyce Matheson capably introduced the junior study packet, "Adventures with the Bible" and the primary study packet, "Here and There with the Bible." The leaders in attendance also enjoyed two films, "Growing As World Friends" and "Lit Lit Makes Wishes Come True."

Mrs. Forde Stapley and Eddie spent a few days with Mrs. Cyrus Summers, Eggleton W.M.S.

And W.A. The June meeting of Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held on the 9th at the home of Mrs. N. Wannamaker, Stirling, with 21 adults and one child present.

The W.A. President, Mrs. William McMullen, presided over a program which she had prepared and opened with the W.A. theme song and prayer, followed by the hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." Mrs. Harry Clarke read the Scripture Lesson, St. John 13: 20-35. Mrs. Keith Johnson gave the meditation.

Tinyandra Stapley gathered the offering which was dedicated with prayer. Thirteen members paid their fees. The Secretary, Mrs. Fitchett, read the minutes. A business period followed.

The annual Baby Band meeting is to be held on July 14th at the Church with the leader, Mrs. Kirkey and Mrs. F. Stapley arranging the programme.

It was decided to purchase two dozen tablespoons and a large pitcher. As there will be no bazaar this fall it was decided that each member would contribute $1.00 extra.

The W.M.S. President spoke on the bales to be packed soon and sent to Curve Lake. Articles may be left at the home of Mrs. W. Harlow, Mrs. B. Stapley or Mrs. Forde Stapley. The members were reminded to bring parcels of used nylon stockings to the July meeting.

Mrs. Stapley thanked Mrs. Wannamaker for opening her home for the meeting and also welcomed all the visitors present.

A splendid reading on Stewardship was given by Mrs. S. Prest and a poem was read by Mrs. M. Kirkey. The chapter from the study book was presented by Mrs. McMullen.

It was decided that half of the proceeds from the dinner at the church be given to the W.M.S. Treasurer.

Mr. Dyson spoke briefly, thanking all for the get-well cards sent to Mrs. Dyson.

Hundreds Attend
Open House At Breeding Assoc.

Sunday afternoons has been a busy time around the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association at R.R. 2, Belleville, this month.

The Open House, which is being conducted every Sunday afternoon during June, has been receiving visitors from all of the six Counties in the Quinte district. On June the 5th over 300 persons attended and on June 12th well over 400.

Among the visitors last Sunday was the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Northumberland County. Mr. Goodfellow has been a member of the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association for several years and has been breeding his cattle in this way.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Harold McGee with a fair attendance.

The President, Mrs. B. Reid, opened the meeting with a word of welcome to all, following by the singing of the hymn "For the Beauty of the Earth" and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The Scripture reading from Psalm ninety-six and explanation of same was given by Mrs. R. Eggleton. Mrs. H. Rollins gave the prayer from the Glad Tidings. Roll call was answered by the key word "Beauty."

Several matters of business were discussed and approved. The offering was received and dedicated and the hymn "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" was sung.

Mrs. D. Farney, convener of the programme, took charge. Several readings were given by Mrs. D. Far-ney, Mrs. Munro and Mrs. D. Rodgers. Mrs. K. Rooney gave the chapter from the study book, "Africa Disturbed." The hymn, "Rock of Ages," was sung and the Mizpah Benediction closed this interesting meeting.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants and a social time followed.

TWO NEWLY TESTED RECIPES FROM THE CONSUMER SECTION

Short Order Gourmet Dessert

Sabayon (or Zabaglione as it is often called) is one of those special desserts that appears on menus in elegant restaurants. It is delightfully flavoured with sherry and so fluffy it's hard to believe that the dessert contains no egg whites.

Orange juice may be used in place of the sherry in the recipe, if preferred.

Sabayon (Zabaglione)

3 egg yolks
1-3 cup sugar
Few grains salt
1-3 cup sherry

Measure all ingredients into a bowl. Place over boiling water and beat constantly with rotary or electric beater until mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove bowl from boiling water, scrape down mixture from sides of bowl and continue beating until thick enough to coat back of a wooden spoon, about 3 minutes longer. Serve warm in sherbet dishes. Six to eight servings.

Seven Minute Icing

Favourite of Many Years

When you make a very special cake you want a very special icing to top it off. For many homemakers. Seven Minute Icing is the answer. Smooth, sweet and feathery light it adds inches to your cake, gives it a generous, lustrous, finished look that is most appealing.

Seven Minute Icing

2 egg whites, unbeaten
1 1/2 cups sugar
1-3 cup water
Few grains salt
3 teaspoon cream of tartar
OR 2 teaspoons white corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients except vanilla in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water, beating constantly with rotary beater until mixture holds firm peaks — 7 to 10 minutes. Remove from heat, add vanilla and beat until thoroughly combined.

Enough to ice two 9" layers or one 10" tube cake.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

PUT A SHINE ON IT

"Everything Jim does, he puts a shine on it."

I had never met Jim, so I asked what the heck such a description meant. Did he go around with a dust cloth or something?

No, she said, he just makes everything so much more fun. Never does anything just an ordinary way, even washing dishes, painting the garage, or talking to you. He makes everything special. You ought to see how dishes shine when he dries them!

I said he must be one of those fussy, finicky, boring perfectionists.

He is definitely not boring, I was told. He is everything else but boring. He makes the day bright, the conversation important, dish washing a lot less tiring, and garage painting an adventure. He's so darn alive most men look dead beside him.

So I had to meet Jim. I went far out of my way to do it, too, but I'm glad. He is special. He brightens you up. I found that just being with him was an event, and afterward, I tried to figure out why.

For one thing, Jim is a very positive fellow — he is for a lot of things, against very few. In any situation, he seems to select the good points and put the emphasis on them. You soon get carried along by his buoyant mood and you see possibilities for growth all about you.

"Jim has taken a lot of lickings in business," a cynic told me. "He jumps where angels fear to tread. He's a sucker for any new idea or proposition. Some day he'll bump into a smart guy who'll really take him to the cleaners."

Well, maybe. So far, Jim has done all right. Fact is, he has made himself wealthy, and had a wonderful time doing it. Perhaps he has been "taken" a few times; but he has opened his mind to so many successful ideas that the few flops haven't meant much in his career. Even in failure, there'd be a glow about him. He'd never collapse. It would take a heap of ruin to block his view of the road up ahead.

Perhaps we'd all be better off with a bit of Jim's approach. When we tackle our next job, let's try to put a shine on it!

Wellman's W.A.

Mrs. Kenneth Tompkins was hostess to the Woman's Association of Wellman's United Church on Friday, June 3rd. There were 15 adults and 5 children in attendance.

Mrs. Jack Dunham, President, opened the meeting with the theme song, followed by the Theme Prayer.

Mrs. Howard Wallace was in charge of the worship service, based on "Children of Light." The hymn, "Thou Whose Almighty Word" was sung, followed by the Scripture reading, Ephesians 5: 1-4, read by Miss Emma Rainie. Mrs. Wallace commented on the theme and Mrs. Omar Dracup led in prayer. "O Lord and Master of Us All," was sung bringing the worship period to a close.

Mrs. Clifford Clancy, Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. There was a short business period. The W.A. decided to buy some new hymn books for the choir; also some for use in the Church.

Mrs. Jack Dunham gave a report on the W.A. Convention held at Tweed.

Mrs. Ken Tompkins favoured with a solo, "There Is No Name So Sweet On Earth." Mrs. Alfred Aikens gave a humorous reading, "The Folly of Parson Brown." There was a short skit based on the ways and customs of Galilee. Mrs. Jim Pollock, Mrs. John Carlisle, Mrs. Jack Dunham and Mrs. Ken Tompkins took parts in the skit. A reading, "The Continuing of Christ," was given by Mrs. Jim Pollock. The hymn, "Take My Life and Let It Be," was sung.

Mrs. Byron Seeley was in charge of a brief period dealing with Stewardship, taking as her theme "We As God's Stewards." Mrs. Gerald Clancy read a scripture passage in keeping with this subject, Deuteronomy 8: 18-18.

Mrs. Jack Dunham thanked the hostess and anyone helping in any way with the meeting, then closed with the benediction.

Mrs. Tompkins and her assistants served a delicious lunch while everyone enjoyed a social hour.

Youth Leaders' Conference Held In Belleville

A large number of Explorer, Mission Band and C.G.I.T. leaders attended a conference at Holloway United Church, Belleville, on Thursday last. They came from Tweed, Picton, Belleville, Stirling, Thomasburg, Marmora and Wellington, to hear Miss Joyce Matheson, Student Field Worker on Missionary Education from the United Church Training School in Toronto. Miss Matheson has been leading such courses during May and June and then will take up camp leadership at C.G.I.T. camps throughout Ontario and Eastern Quebec for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Clarence Holmes, President of the Belleville Presbyterian, welcomed the ladies on behalf of the Presbyterian, who sponsored the event. Mrs. Don Williams, Secretary for Explorer groups, led a very inspiring devotional, taking as her theme, "The Church's Mission To Her Children," stating that we are the church and so the challenge is a personal one, and we must take time and prepare ourselves, pray about it and re-establish our ideals. The hymn, "Take Time To Be Holy" was sung.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend welcomed the ladies on behalf of Holloway Church. Mrs. O. Bertrand, Conference Secretary for Explorer Groups introduced Miss Matheson. A film strip entitled "Growing as World Friends" was shown, which depicted where and how a child learns of the mission work of the church both at home and abroad starting at his mother's knee in the home and on through to the adults in their church.

Discussion groups were formed to discuss the factors that influence — love for all people, knowledge of other races, and the responsibility of the leaders to influence for good.

Mrs. P. MacMullen, Stirling, Literature Secretary of the Presbyterian, introduced the new study books to be used by the various groups for the coming season.

Miss Matheson led and told of games of other lands, and showed a film strip entitled "Lit, Lit, Makes Wishes Come True," depicting typical activities carried on by children of many races.

The evening session was mainly for C.G.I.T. leaders and followed a similar pattern to the afternoon. The evening devotional was in charge of Holloway United C.G.I.T. and was led by Miss Shirley Ackerman and Miss Joan Dickey. They took as their theme, "Love Your Neighbour As Yourself." Their discussion group centred on the questions — "Why teach missionary education in C.G.I.T. groups?" and "What missionary education is?" It was God's command to go ye into all the world and to love thy neighbour as thyself — your neighbour everywhere, next door, your own family, friends and people of all races and creeds and countries. The meeting closed with the benediction.

CONSERVATION NEWS

The Age Limit To Obtain A Gun License Has Been Reduced To 15 Years From 16 Years of Age

While this may be good news to young nimrods, it will mean an added burden to our hunter safety instructors. Regulations are now in force compelling a beginner to have a certificate of competence before obtaining a gun license.

At the present time our Hunter Safety Training programme is moving slowly towards its aim of preparing persons in the art of safe gun handling. However, by the first of September the rush will be on; all beginners and persons who can't furnish proof of having a past license will be anxious to take the 4 stage course necessary to obtain a certificate that will entitle him to a gun license.

In our larger centres, such as Kingston, Belleville, Renfrew and Arnprior, several courses have been completed and we feel that there are sufficient qualified instructors to look after the necessary requirements. But, what of the young farm boy and those living in rural communities? There will be a great need for instructors in "out-of-the-way" places, where travel to larger centres will mean an inconvenience to rural people requiring the course.

Now that it has become mandatory to have a certificate of competence to obtain a gun license if (1) a beginner or (2) no evidence of having a previous license, we would like to see more enthusiastic and safety conscious men support our programme by acting as instructors in our rural areas.

School teachers and Scout Leaders are in an excellent position to carry out these instructions. Fish and Game Club members are of course already lending great support to our program. If you are interested, please contact any of our Officers or write to the Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed.

Remember, September 1st, 1960, is the opening of our hunting season — be prepared.

Pheasants — October 8th to October 29th; bag limit, 3 per day of which not more than one shall be a hen. (Shooting of pheasants is restricted to the hours between 8 a.m. and 5.00 p.m. and rifles must not be used).

special message on "What we should be thinking about in 1960." She stressed the value of short courses, the need to pasteurize raw milk, special safety precautions for children driving tractors, and above all, she asked the delegates to read the directions on all electrical appliances. The "Importance of Food for Health," and Canada Food Rules were stressed and she outlined the district workshop on "Food and Nutrition."

Mrs. MacMullen thanked the Institute members for making it possible for her to attend and enjoy this interesting and profitable conference. Mrs. Clarence Chard read a humorous poem on "Household Financing" and Mrs. R. Holland conducted a cake contest.

The meeting closed with the Institute Grace, after which refreshments were served by the hostess and lunch conveners, Mrs. Philip Conley, Mrs. Harry Vandervoort, Mrs. Gerald Brooks and Mrs. Percy MacMullen.

Mrs. Vernon Harry expressed appreciative thanks for the hospitality, programme, reports and refreshments.

over the past 50 years has been both positive and rapid — I've experienced it.

Just as dentistry became specifically licensed for dental care, so has optometry become recognized and specifically licensed for Visual care.

You cannot fail to be impressed by the difference between the optometrist, the complete Visual Analysis, and an abbreviated service known as "refraction."

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

RIDGETOWN GUERNSEY HERD
TOP CANADA PRODUCERS

Indicating the high standards in breeding and production that have been developed in the herds of the Agricultural Schools of Ontario, the Guernsey herd at the Western Ontario Agricultural School, Ridgetown, is the highest producing Guernsey herd in Canada, according to a report just issued by the Production Service and made public by the Canadian Guernsey Breeders Association.

The school herd of seven cows had the highest combined Breed Class Average to lead the Small Herd division. In addition the school herd won out over medium sized herds of 16 to 30 head and the large herd class. The school herd posted Breed Class Averages of 149 for milk and 152 for butter fat with an actual 305 day production average of 10864 pounds of milk and 555 pounds of butter fat.

The school herd was assembled in 1952 by the present Director of the school, E. L. Woodley, and is currently under the supervision of James MacDonald. The herd was developed from the purchase of six bred heifers and young cows and is maintained under loose housing conditions.

Commenting on the outstanding record of the herd, Agriculture Minister W. A. Goodfellow stated that the all-Canadian win was a tribute to the staff of the school and was also an important factor in that it stimulated interest in both the student body and farmers in Ontario in a programme of better breeding for top production.

"Mr. Woodley and his staff have every reason to be proud of their achievement," said Mr. Goodfellow. "This herd is managed and maintained in exactly the same way as on any farm. It shows what can be done by proper attention to the important factors of breeding and feeding."

PASTURE SOWS TO SAVE FEED

In most cases market pigs are more economically raised in feed lots rather than on pastures. The reason: young pigs generally grow very slowly on grass and require considerably more feed. However, brood sows can make good use of pastures.

"It is possible to save up to 2 pounds of feed per day per sow when sows are on good pasture," says Garnet Norrish, one swine researcher. "Generally we put 10 to 12 sows per acre and by using an acre in sow pasture save 1 1/2 to 2 tons of sow feed over the summer."

All pigs on pasture should have access to adequate protection from direct sunlight in a form of either good shade trees or simple structures that will provide shade.

"Good pastures are important," he says. And run-out hay fields do not provide good sow pastures.

He suggests a mixture of alfalfa, ladino and brome grass. The legumes will provide some protein and although the brome grass will offer some resistance to rooting by the sows, it is good practice to ring sows while they are on pasture.

For a good sow pasture, seed 8 pounds of alfalfa, 2 pounds of ladino and 10 pounds of brome grass with 1 bushel of oats per acre. Graze down the oats early.

ROADSIDE WEEDS ARE UNSIGHTLY

Roadside weed control is necessary if we wish to keep weeds from infesting our good farm lands, says the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture. Roadside weeds are unsightly, create a safety hazard, spread weeds to cultivated land, and at times are also injurious to health. For instance, a roadside where ragweed is allowed to bloom is a source of misery to hayfever sufferers.

The control of weeds and brush on roadsides is not an easy task but with the building of our modern roads much more early cutting is practical and economical. The most effective means of control is the systematic spraying every year for several years of all roadside areas, to be followed up later with spot spraying. It has been proven many times that one spraying is not effective, and that weeds will return to reinfest areas that have received only token spraying.

2,4-D can be used for the easy-to-kill weeds at from 16 to 32 ounces acid per acre in from 75 to 150 gallons of water. The resistant weeds and most of the brush can be treated with 2 to 4 pounds of Brush-Kill in the same amount of water. Certain weeds, such as wild carrot, need a spring and fall application for good results.

Everyone benefits from the control of weeds on roadsides. Weed control programmes are essential for the improved appearance and productivity of our countryside.

POTATO LEAFHOPPER

Leafhoppers on alfalfa, potatoes and beans, can be reduced in number by treating the crops with DDT, methoxychlor or malathion. But, warns W. B. Wressell, of the entomology laboratory, only methoxychlor should be used on alfalfa when it is grown for fodder, and only when the plants are four to six inches high.

Actually, growers of seed alfalfa, beans and potatoes may treat crops with any one of several materials since the residue problem does not exist unless the crop is fed to livestock. About midsummer, farmers should watch for flying leafhoppers in the field and examine the undersides of leaves for cast skins and nymphs. If insects are present, one of the insecticides should be applied as a spray or dust at one pound of actual poison per acre. Treatments should be repeated every ten days if leafhoppers are present. Instructions on the container should be followed closely.

Leafhoppers feed mainly on alfalfa, potatoes and beans, causing hopper burn to the plants. They are small, pale green wedge-shaped insects that injure plants by sucking juices from the leaves and stems. They overwinter in the southern United States and adults migrate north to Canada during May and June.

WEED OF THE WEEK

TWENTY CENTURIES FROM
WEED TO VEGETABLE

It has taken twenty centuries for us to select and breed cultivated carrots from wild weeds. Even today some wild carrot roots are quite sweet to eat; others taste horrible. The Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture is not worried about the wild carrot as a competitor for Canadian cooking pot space, but as a competitor in forage fields.

Most wild carrots grow flat rosettes of lacy leaves the first year. The next year they send up flower stalks two or three feet high. Some plants are annuals. They flower and die in one year. A few are stubborn and grow for more than two years. This complicates killing them with chemicals since no one spray at one time will be right for the three different types. To make matters worse some strains of wild carrots are resistant to 2,4-D.

The plant is easily recognized. The leaves look moth eaten and the mature flower head looks like a low-class, dirty-brown, miniature bird's nest. The seeds are no better. Their spines are fine for hitch hiking on wool, hair, clothes, or muddy feet. If all else fails the flower head breaks off in the winter wind. It takes off like a whirling dervish, leaving a trail of seeds behind it.

Luckily, wild carrot can't stand cultivation, and it can be killed with herbicides. Once it gets into clover, herbicides cannot be used, or the clover will be killed. To protect clover fields keep roadsides, fence rows and grass areas sprayed. Rates and kinds of herbicides can be found in the Guide to Herbicides, free from any Ontario Department of Agriculture office.

WHITE GRUB DAMAGE

Turf in many areas of Eastern Canada may be damaged by white grubs this year, warns J. H. Boyce of the Plant Research Institute, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Modern insecticides give highly effective control of grubs when properly applied. Among these are aldrin, dieldrin, chlordane, DDT, heptachlor and BHC. All are available in various forms and concentrations and each should be applied according to the directions on the container. Before these insecticides were developed, arsenate of lead was used. Although expensive it is still useful as it also controls earthworms and, on some soils, prevents the germination of annual blue grass and sometimes crabgrass. All these materials are poisonous so instructions on the labels should be strictly observed.

Actually, in most areas of Eastern Canada, one of these insecticides should have been applied last May or June, when adults were flying. This would have killed many of the adults and most of the larvae. In districts where many June beetles were observed last year, an insecticide should be applied at once and immediately watered into the soil.

White grubs, which are the larvae of June beetles, feed voraciously on grass roots and destroy large areas of turf if not controlled. Lawn owners and turf managers will recall the serious damage caused by the grubs in 1957, the last heavy feeding year. Skunks and other animals often cause further damage to turf by digging for the grubs as food. Maintaining a good turf, particularly with regard to soil fertility, is a necessary part of a control programme against the grubs.

Timely Tips

Watch that orchard grass doesn't get ahead of your cattle, warns Dr. Bill Tossell, O.A.C. forage researcher. If the crop starts to head out, run an electric fence through the field and restrict the cattle to a part that is small enough for them to handle. Cut the rest of the orchard grass for early hay.

Use a 2 inch by 6 inch by 8 foot plank around ponds, instead of a life preserver, suggests Hal Wright, safety expert with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Reason: a plank can be aimed at the person to be saved (people are seldom accurate at throwing life preservers). Bore a hole through the plank, tie a long, light rope through it and connect the other end of the rope to a tree or heavy stake. Keep the plank near the water.

Copper sulphate can be used for algae and pond scum, say Dr. Bob Bibbey of the O.A.C. Botany Department. Either dissolve the copper sulphate in water and spray it on the pond surface or put the copper sulphate in a burlap bag and drag it through the water. Watch that there isn't too big a concentration of chemical in one spot; more than 2 ppm. of copper sulphate can be poisonous to fish or animals.

"Now is the time to contact custom machinery operators in your area to see if they can do those urgent harvesting jobs," says Prof. G. I. Trant, economist at O.A.C. Studies of actual farm businesses show again and again that farmers have been investing more money in machinery than can be justified by its earning power on one farm. It is true that ownership of a large new machine gives psychological satisfaction, and also some advantage in being available exactly when wanted. But the cost is high when you consider the returns from investing the same amount of money in better livestock, fertilizer or other money-earning ways.

Thieves Steal $200 In Warkworth

Two men and a woman stole about $200 from the safe of Birney and McKee's grocery, Warkworth, at noon Monday while Arthur McKee was alone in the store. The safe was opened in the store's office.

The well-dressed trio entered the store shortly before 1.00 p.m. One man apparently took Mr. McKee's attention while the other man and woman entered the office and took the money from the safe.

Frankford Taxpayers Seek Affiliation In Quinte Area

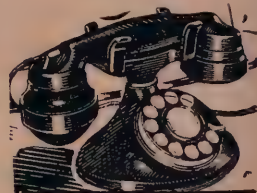

Frankford taxpayers are seeking to have their municipality included in the Bay of Quinte District High School Area. This would permit their pupils to attend the school in Belleville.

Motions to this effect are being forwarded to Hastings and Prince Edward County Councillors and also to the City of Belleville.

Frankford has been desiring such an arrangement for many years. However, until the present, it has not been possible to take action with respect to it, owing to the fact that the municipality did not adjoin the area served by the Belleville school.

to Mrs. Harper Rollins — Exhibits Were Numerous

St. John's Parish Hall was a bower of beauty on Thursday afternoon and evening of last week, when the Stirling Horticultural Society held its Annual Flower Show. The weather was ideal and there was a good attendance, both afternoon and evening.

ST. JOHN'S ANGLICAN CHURCH ONE HUNDRED YEARS OLD

Youth Service To Mark Centennial Celebration at St. John's Sunday

Rev. C. C. Brazill, Rector of St. Edmund the Martyr, Toronto, Guest Speaker

The Centennial celebrations at St. John's Anglican Church continue with a youth service on Sunday next, June 25th. The Rev. Russell Gale, Rector, will conduct the service and Rev. C. C. Brazill, of St. Edmund the Martyr Church, Toronto, will be the guest preacher. Rev. Brazill is a former Rector of St. John's, being stationed here from 1943 to 1948 and doubtless he will receive a warm welcome from his former parishioners.

Corner Stone Laid June 25th, 1860

Exactly one hundred years ago, June 25th, 1860, the corner stone of St. John's Church was well and truly laid with Masonic ceremonies, in the presence of 250 Masonic brethren and two thousand spectators.

Completed in 1861, the church, of fine Gothic design, was built after a plan prepared by Fuller, Messer and Jones, of Toronto. It was these architects who planned the Church of St. Stephen the Martyr, Toronto, and the first Parliament House in Ottawa.

Cost £1,000

The superintendent of works was Mr. Richard Meath, an engineer who came from County Meath, Ireland, to assist in the building of the Trent Canal. The walls of the church building (red brick inside, and Trenton limestone outside) are two feet, five inches thick. The whole structure is a fine example of the stone mason's art of one hundred years ago. The whole cost of building was given as £1,000, about one eighth the cost of re-building the present church and hall.

Earliest Records Destroyed

This was not a new congregation in the year of building, having already been in existence for twenty years or so. The earliest records of the church's work in Stirling were destroyed by fires in 1866 and 1882, with the result that any definite history of the parish must begin about 1847, during the incumbency of the Rev. Groves. In that year services were being held in the school-house, and were later held in the Town Hall, after the incorporation of the village.

At this early date, Stirling was still a mission in the Diocese of Toronto. At the time of building, the Bishop was Bishop Strachan, one of the early builders of the Canadian church. The Mission of Stirling included the villages of Stirling, Marmora and Madoc, together with parts of the Townships of Rawdon, Sidney and West Huntingdon.

In 1859, the Rev. James A. Preston was appointed to succeed Rev. Groves. Under Mr. Preston's leadership, the rather small band of church people in Stirling undertook preparations necessary for the building of a church. On June 25th, 1860, they saw their efforts nearing completion with the laying of the corner stone.

During Mr. Stephenson's incumbency, 1876-1877, Frankford was separated from Stirling, and looked to Trenton for its services. In 1878 the new Mission of Marmora was given into the pastoral care of the Rev. C. M. Harris, leaving Stirling with only Rawdon as an out-station. To this parish came the Rev. T. Godden, in 1878. It was in his ten years of ministry that St. Thomas Church, on the Eighth Line of Rawdon, was built, a Rectory purchased in Stirling, and an organ and bell for St. John's obtained. 1899 saw the Parish of Raw-don formed from the Parishes of Marmora and Stirling, and the following year, Frankford and Stirling were reunited, with the Rev. J. H. H. Coleman as Rector.

Built Hall in 1936

In 1936, the first major addition to the church building was added, namely, the Parish Hall. This Hall was erected as a Memorial to all former members of St. John's congregation. This work was begun and completed during the Rectorship of the Rev. A. S. McConnell, M.B.E., now Rector of St. Thomas', Belleville.

During the Rectorship of the Rev. C. C. Brazill (1943-1948), the Ladies' League undertook the task of refurbishing the Cryer Hall, established in 1910, and equipped it as a Chapel. This Hall stands at the south-east corner of the Church.

1944 and 1945 saw the refitting of the Rectory. This building had gone some years without anything of note being done by way of repair so, with the assistance of Frankford, the job was undertaken, and brought to completion.

During the Rectorship of the Rev. Russell Gale, the present Rector, a new aluminum roof was placed on St. John's Church and buildings, the interior of the Church Building has been completely redecorated, the Church doors redecorated with blue leather, sedilla seats and the kneeling cushions at the Altar recovered.

REV. RUSSELL GALE

and a new furnace was purchased in 1959 by the Congregation.

Don't Die In Water . . Read These Warnings

Each year summer vacations spell tragedy to hundreds of families as accidental drowning takes the lives of both children and adults. Next to the highway, the lake, river or swimming pool is the most lethal vacation hazard.

Swimming is fun and should be enjoyed. Safety is of utmost importance, however, and the All Canada Insurance Federation, representing more than 250 Canadian fire, casualty and automobile insurance companies, recommends these rules for saving lives:

- (1) Learn how to swim and teach the children to swim.
- (2) Do not swim alone.
- (3) Unless accompanied by a boat, do not swim far from shore if you wish to try for distance.
- (4) Non-swimmers should not float into deep water on inner tubes or other inflated articles. If the float begins to leak the swimmer is in difficulty.
- (5) Do not dive into unfamiliar waters and do not swim beneath diving boards.

(6) If a swimmer is in difficulty, try to rescue him with a boat, a rope or an extended oar. Do not swim to him unless it is absolutely necessary. Often the rescuer also becomes a victim.

(7) At public beaches, swim near the lifeguard stations.

(8) Wait for at least an hour after meals before swimming.

(9) Beware of undertows in rough water.

(10) Do not swim during lightning storms.

(11) Learn how to administer artificial respiration.

Val d'Or

The name of the Quebec mining town of Val d'Or means "valley of gold," although the town is built on a high plateau; the name is thought to have come from a brand of tobacco popular with early miners in the region.

The Good Driver

LUCKY ONES DIE . . .

Jimmy Nichols is a quiet 17-year-old, well-mannered and hard working. He wants to be a teacher.

One night when he was a baby, his parents, George and Anna Nichols, were walking home from a late movie. George was a house painter. Anna, a part-time cleaning woman.

The couple lived with George's parents in a neatly crowded sugar cube of a house. Anna looked forward to the day when she could stop cleaning other people's floors and start polishing her own.

Their savings account was growing slowly, but she and George were young and healthy. Soon they'd have their own house, and maybe more children.

They were walking arm-in-arm across a street when the car hit them. It swept them off the road and dumped them in the gutter like bundles of old clothing.

The weeks that followed were frightening. George was in the hospital for days, Anna for a month. Hospital bills piled up. Their bank account shriveled. The old grandparents were close to exhaustion from the shock of the accident and coping with a baby all day.

When $10,000 was offered as an out-of-court settlement, the Nichols' accepted. It seemed like all the money in the world.

"Surely," they reasoned, "there's no need to see a lawyer. With all this money we can pay the hospital bills, buy our house and live happily."

That was 17 years ago.
Today George and Anna Nichols are in their 50's.

Since the accident George has worked less than a year. He is a happy, less alcoholic, nervous and excitable, unable to make up his mind about attempts to work; he sits in a chair and stares silently out the window. Anna Nichols had her lip split like a pumpkin when her mouth hit the cement curb. It doesn't hurt her any more to speak — but it will always be painful to hear her.

She still lives with George's parents, still cleans other people's floors. It takes her longer now. When her broken hip healed it left her permanently lame.

Jimmy Nichols, their son, couldn't finish high school. He works in a gas station to help support his parents. He knows he isn't going to make it to teachers' college.

This story isn't unusual. Insurance company files bulge with cases just like it. So tragic are some of the stories that agents wear armor around their hearts to guard against sentiment.

"The lucky ones die," they say when they talk about people like George and Anna.

Former Teacher Pays Tribute To Late Dr. Charles Totton

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

Folks at Mount Pleasant, Rawdon, have received a letter and clipping from Mrs. Charles Totton, of Regina, Sask., formerly of Mount Pleasant.

The clipping, which appeared in the Regina Leader on March 11th, concerns her and her late husband, Dr. Charles Totton. It was written under the heading, "Lessons for a School Teacher," by A. L. O'Farrell.

Mrs. Totton was formerly Lena Johnson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnson, Mount Pleasant. She received her public school education at the Allan School, S.S. No. 3, Rawdon. She married Dr. Charles Totton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Totton, of Wellman's Corners.

Dr. and Mrs. Totton took up residence in Verwood, Sask., where they built a small hospital in connection with their home, which was a great benefit to the community. They later moved to Regina, where Mrs. Totton still resides.

Quotes Article

The article is quoted as follows: "We hear and read all kinds of things about education and school teachers the year round, and especially during 'Education Week'. We are encouraged to think the only things that teachers receive for their services is salary, which is never quite big enough.

"The fringe benefits are seldom mentioned, perhaps because they come in the form of kindness rendered and wisdom shared by the people in the places where teachers teach.

"Personally I am frequently reminded of those fringe benefits by a neat scar on the inside of my left hand. A scar that might have been ugly indeed but for the skill of one of the kindest men I have ever known.

"Whenever I notice it I remember the late Dr. Charlie Totton who once sewed up my hand and then gave me, free of charge, a philosophy of life I still try to hold. In simple terms it was that neither accidents nor illness need keep an individual from big accomplishments.

"I was teaching in a district school not far from Verwood, Sask., where Dr. Totton had located after serving overseas in the First World War. About the first thing I did to distinguish myself after arriving at my new school was to cut my hand. My horrified landlady bundled me off to Dr. Totton without delay.

"I recall being singularly impressed by his good-natured, casual manner that made me feel a painfully cut hand wasn't a serious matter at all. Having it stitched was all in the day's work.

"Teaching conditions in my district were strictly primitive for that was a long time ago. I stayed with delightful people, but there was just one little handicap. My landlady couldn't speak English, and the only way we could converse was for her husband or sons to interpret. If we were alone we had to use the English and French vocabularies in the back of my French Grammar.

"It turned out that their house was extremely cold and I think the family was as miserable as I when an early fall snowstorm raged across the prairie to be followed by bad weather right into December. Even in the daytime we were hard put to keep warm for the only available coal was some very slack stuff mined at Willow Bunch.

"My room was a hallway, the head of my bed was at the door, and the foot beside a window. So I had a snowdrift under my bed and one on top. The only way I could keep warm at night was to stay fully dressed and huddle in bed with all my sweaters and coats over me for extra bedding. And still I shivered!

"Finally there came a morning when I knew I had lost my mind with the cold. My whole body ached and my soul cried out in agony. I couldn't get up and teach. Every body was alarmed and the doctor was brought post haste.

"When Dr. Totton looked me over he said casually 'You aren't sick.' I knew this, but I'd hoped he wouldn't notice. I felt utterly miserable. The doctor, however, had missed nothing of the situation. He bundled me up and took me home with him.

Wife Takes Over
"Here his charming wife took over without so much as a surprised look. Life began to seem better. Between them, the Tottons restored my weary body with proper rest and good food. They also nourished my languishing spirits with understanding and the kind of conversation I had missed for months. The charge for this service was so small I still blush to remember.

"When the doctor returned me to my district I tried to express my gratitude but he just laughed at me and said, 'Oh, we kind of like looking after orphans.'

"It was soon to learn just how well he had looked after me. He had encountered some of my school board in a local store and lectured them on the way they treated their teacher. The surprised board protested that I hadn't reported my hardships to them. But why should I? The people where I stayed were enduring them, so I could do no less. Besides, they made up in kindness what they couldn't give me in comforts, and I didn't belong to any teachers' federation because there wasn't one in those days.

"The school term was just ending and from then on until school closed I was a guest of the various members of the school board. Their wives and sisters mothered me and the men, themselves, stoked the fires night and day with great enthusiasm. I am sure I was the most roasted teacher in Saskatchewan before I returned home for the winter holiday.

Often A Guest

"When I came back for the next term I was provided with a comfortable boarding house. During that term I was often a guest of the Tottons. Part of their lovely new home was now utilized as a hospital and doctor's office.

"Mrs. Totton took this in her stride and never let it interfere with her home life and the care of her family, or her gracious entertaining, or her kindness to homeless school teachers.

"The medical and hospital services the Tottons provided for the big community were enhanced by their understanding of conditions and the peoples' needs. Their kindness was unlimited. They exemplified the doctor's philosophy that no obstacle should be allowed to stand in the way of accomplishing some good.

"It was an object lesson I did not forget even though the years were to make us become 'ships that pass in the night and and speak to each other in passing.'

"During those years the present government was to recognize the special abilities of Dr. Totton and capture his services. So the Tottons went to Regina to live.

"And I married and settled on a farm near Plapout where I have had many near occasions to bless the Tottons for the important thing they taught, a lonely school teacher on the Saskatchewan prairie.

"Truly it was the most valuable 'fringe benefit' of my teaching experience."

The Tottons have several relatives in Rawdon Township and in Belleville.

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The Bible translators endeavouring to put the words and thoughts of the Scripture into another language find many pitfalls, especially when there is no written language to begin with from which to make comparisons. There are also unsuspected distinctions in words that are a pitfall to the uninitiated and the unwary. In more advanced languages this difficulty may be magnified.

For instance in the Dutch language the word for "leg" which is "been" (pronounced bane) also means "bone." But the plural of "been" (leg) is "benen" whereas the plural of "been" (bane) is "Beenderen."

Also if you refer to the legs of a table as "benen" you will be laughed at for to the Dutch that raises a picture of human legs. Inanimate objects, insects and animals do not have "benen" but "poten."

Your difficulties are not yet over because evidently the Dutch have such a high regard for a horse that his legs are called "benen" like human beings not "poten" like other animals.

In the realm of abstract words such as "love" the difficulty of selecting a suitable word especially in primitive languages is increased. In the major Philippine dialects from among many expressions of love the word "guyana" in Cebuano, "pag-ibig" in Tagalog, "lugar" in Panpango and "ayat" in Ilocano are selected as expressing religious love though each may also be used too for a noble and refined love of people and for each other.

Bible translators sometimes seek for weeks to find the right word.

38th ANNUAL DIOCESAN C.W.L. CONVENTION

"The Christian Family Apostolate" was the theme of the 38th Annual Diocesan C.W.L. Convention held in Kingston on June 12th and 13th. Delegates attending from Stirling were Mrs. Ray Marbury and Mrs. Stan Meeks.

The convention opened with registration at 10.00 o'clock in the Cathedral School. Solemn Benediction in St. Mary's Cathedral Sunday evening was well attended by the delegates to the Convention. Rev. B. J. Walsh, rector of St. Mary's, gave a most interesting sermon.

The convention Mass in St. James Chapel on Monday morning opened the first full day of the convention. Several interesting reports were given by representatives of the Provincial Council at the business sessions which started at 9.15 a.m.

The highlight of the convention was the luncheon at the La Salle Hotel where the delegates had the pleasure of hearing some outstanding speakers. The guest speaker for the day was Miss Grace Coughlin, of St. John, N.B., National President of the League.

Following the afternoon sessions, the convention concluded with the installation of officers, followed by the adjournment tea, bringing to a close the 1960 convention programme.

A Letter To The Editor

Box 73, Wellington, Ont.

June 18th, 1960

To The Editor.

Dear Sir:
Compilation of histories of United Empire Loyalist families in the Quinte area, and their descendants, for filing in a reference library, where they may be available to coming generations, of the Quinte Loyalist Museum being opened this summer in the U.E.L. Memorial Park at Adolphustown, has been under way during the past five months, and has resulted in bringing forth some surprising Loyalist history.

About 1800 Josiah Wellington came to the Stirling-Madoc area to settle. He was born in 1780 and died in 1865. The name of his first wife is not recorded in the old family Bible, although names of the children of that marriage were. Today we fail to find any record of a male Wellington in the County, or nearby area.

This appeal is therefore being made to any of your readers who may possess any family history of this pioneer family, to communicate with the undersigned.

"Well . You See . . ."

This table of excuses is obviously the work of a master excuse-maker. For best results, and to save the time of everyone concerned, give your excuses by number. Yes, of course, you'll need to memorize them.

1. That's the way we've always done it.
2. I didn't know you were in a hurry for it.
3. That's not in my department.
4. No one told me to go ahead.
5. I'm waiting for an O.K.
6. How did I know this was different.
7. That's his job. Not mine.
8. Wait till the boss comes back and ask him.
9. I forgot.

10. I didn't think it was very important.

11. I'm so busy, I just couldn't get around to it.

12. I thought I told you

13. I wasn't hired to do that.

Bancroft Taxes Up Four Mills

Taxes in the village of Bancroft have been increased this year by approximately 4 mills.

For public school supporters the 1960 rate will be 96.23 mills for residential and 105.16 mills for commercial property. Last year's rate was 91.95 mills for residential and 101.21 mills for commercial.

OUTDOOR EXPOSURE

Advance bookings on guests and conventions at Canadian Pacific's resort hotels across Canada indicate a banner season is in store for 1960. In Western Canada, some of the world's most picturesque mountain ranges and natural scenery are two very good reasons why thousands of tourists flock to the Rockies where Canadian Pacific operates the 600-room Banff Springs Hotel, open from May 19th until September 15th and the 400-room Chateau Lake Louise Hotel, open from June 13th until September 6th. On Canada's rock-ribbed east coast, the Digby Pines Hotel and cottages will open June 15th and close September 3rd, while the renowned Algonquin Hotel at St. Andrew's by the sea, N.B., opens its doors June 23rd and closes September 9th. In mid-July, a special "golf week" tournament will be held on the hotel's

BEWARE of Bargain Prices by OUT-OF-TOWN SALESMEN

Beware of the "Suede Shoe" boys. Every year the hucksters and sharp shooters start hammering on the doors of people in Stirling and district talking about needed repairs to their homes. BEWARE! You may not recognize them. They could be high-pressure salesmen, but they could also be exponents of the soft sell.

HERE'S WHAT TO DO

- 1 Never sign a contract at the door or on the first call.
- 2 Always ask for a calling card and check the place of business.
- 3 If you are interested, call the place of business and see how long it has been located in that spot.
- 4 Check the firm with your local office of the Chamber of Commerce
- 5 This is most important. Get at least two prices from long-established and local businesses before you sign any contract.

The firm with no fixed address contributes nothing to the tax load in your community. It has no stake in your community. It does nothing to alleviate the unemployment situation in your community.

Local firms with reputations to watch do not offer "bargains", "specials" or other "gimmicks" at your door. Nor will they urge you to sign a contract at the door.

Remember that a "genuine" salesman from a local business will always welcome your investigating him and the business he represents. He will be delighted to have you check on the reputation of his firm, and will gladly come back on a second call to see you.

Only after these precautions will you be guaranteed a quality job at a fair price.

Remember that these boys are in town for "the kill" at the highest prices they can possibly get from you. Then they are gone and you'll see them no more.

Dogs frequently kill men... by running out unexpectedly into traffic. The House of Lords recently debated the fact that seven people are killed or injured every day in Britain in road accidents in which dogs are involved. The Ontario Safety League points out the obvious need to train, or restrain dogs in heavy traffic areas. Female dogs in season, if allowed to run free, are a special hazard as they are liable to be followed into traffic by other incautious dogs.

HELP YOURSELF SALADS

Help yourself to a potato salad!
Or perhaps you prefer a green salad with a piquant French dressing. That chicken salad look good, too! These and other salads can be arranged in bowls on a large tray or on the table itself so that your family or guests may simply pick and choose and help themselves. They may take a serving of two or three different salads or simply take one whole salad. You can have two or three bowls of the same type of salad or you can make one of two basic salads and vary them with other ingredients. The salads may be prepared ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator in covered plastic bowls. These would be handy to take on a picnic or serve right from the bowl for a help-yourself-supper in your backyard or patio.

Help Yourself

To A Potato Salad!

Make a potato salad as follows: To 6 cups cooked diced potatoes add 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper and 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. This will serve six.

Add any one or two of the following ingredients:

- Chopped onion or chives
- slices of hard cooked eggs
- diced cooked meat or chicken
- diced cheese
- sliced or diced radishes, celery, unpeeled apple, green pepper or cucumber

If there's something else in your refrigerator that you think might go well with potato salad, why not try it? Perhaps you'll discover a wonderful new flavour combination.

Help Yourself

To A Green Salad!

Make a green salad as follows: Choose the salad green you prefer (a good variety is available at this time of year) and make sure it is fresh and crisp. Wash under cold water and drain and shake dry. It is preferable to tear the leaves into the bowl rather than cut them and it's just as easy. Now your green salad is all ready for flavourful additions and dressing.

Add any of the following:

- crumbled Roquefort cheese, salt and pepper
- wedges or slices of cucumber and tomato
- silvers of celery or cheese

- thinly sliced radishes or raw mushrooms
- small cauliflower flowerets
- crisply fried bacon, crumbled into bits
- minced green onions or snipped chives

French dressing is best with green salads but the seasoning may be varied with the following: herbs such as basil, marjoram, rosemary, dill, parsley, onion, horseradish, green or red pepper, crushed egg yolks.

Help Yourself

To A Meat Salad!

Make a meat salad as follows: Combine 2 cups diced cooked meat (chicken, turkey, pork), 1 cup diced celery, salt and pepper to taste and mayonnaise or salad dressing. This will serve six. Individualise each portion with one or more of the following:

- diced cucumber, green pepper or red pepper
- chopped onions or chives
- chopped olives
- silvers almonds or chopped walnuts
- chopped mushrooms
- diced apple, pineapple or grapefruit

Salads allow such scope to the imagination! Practically anything edible can go into a salad and all kinds of combinations are possible. So how about a summer resolution? Serve some type of salad everyday, either as an accompaniment to a main dish or as the heart of the meal itself!

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

DON'T ARGUE WITH COPS

The fellow was talking to his pool room pals. Said he, "I have given my daughter three don'ts only. They are very simple."

I listened. Here, I thought, will be the distilled wisdom of a father advising someone about whom he cares a great deal. Usually, the advice parents give to children is pretty sound.

The fellow enumerated his points by stabbing a finger into his palm. "First, I told her not to argue with her teacher. She did — and got tossed out of the biology class for insubordination," he said. "Second," he said, "I told her never to argue back to her Ma. I have tried it myself and I know it doesn't work."

It was his third "don't" that amused the spectators most and brought a good many emphatic nods of agreement. "Don't argue with traffic cops!" he had advised his daughter. "Even when you are right, you're stuck."

I think it is probably wise not to argue with policemen, especially very young policemen. We are a nation with tremendous respect for the law, and we ought to be. There was a time when the uniform of the Mountie was about the only law in the wild and wicked west. A good deal of that glamour sticks to the young men in Mountie uniforms today.

There is no doubt a few of them abuse this prestige. They grow cocky. They make mistakes. Some of them love to drive their high-powered cars far too fast for safety. One admitted recently, before a magistrate, that he had driven his car at 60 miles per hour through a school zone in pursuit of an automobile which, at that time, he was not certain was speeding. It was altogether likely that he was acting more dangerously in his zeal than was the motorist he chased — for the motorist had slowed down to thirty to go by the school.

Nevertheless, a magistrate feels impelled to take the word of a constable over that of a citizen; or, indeed, over that of two citizens, however reputable they may be. Unfortunately, this sometimes leads to situations where people have more respect (or fear) for the Mountie than they have for the courts themselves, and thus plead guilty even when convinced of their own innocence.

So I say, "If you are right, argue with the cops. It won't do you any good, perhaps, but it will do this country good. Unhealthy fear of a uniform, especially by an innocent person, is a bad omen for a nation. We don't want any of it here in Canada where a man should be presumed innocent until he is proven guilty!"

Drowned — Or Suspended Animation?

Many persons thought to be dead through drowning may really be in a state of suspended animation, according to an article by Peggy Rooke in a recent issue of Health Magazine, official publication of the Health League of Canada.

Papers across the nation record case after case of men, women and children who are given up for dead after receiving artificial respiration for as little time as half an hour. Yet on file in Health League headquarters in Toronto are cases of persons who have been revived after eight hours of artificial respiration.

People do not drown through having their lungs filled with water. The work of the late Sir Frederick Banting was cited in this respect. He did research into drowning while a member of the League's Committee on Artificial Respiration, and found that about four cups of water put directly into the lungs of a rabbit had no adverse effects.

However, a very small amount of water put directly on the larynx produced death through suffocation. Thus it was revealed that many persons, apparently drowned, did not drown at all, but died through suffocation. Dr. Banting was endeavouring to perfect an instrument which would open the closed passage when he died during the last war.

The other aspect of drowning is that many times, artificial respiration is stopped too soon. The apparently drowned person will show all the familiar signs of death: no eye reflex, no breathing, no heart beat.

Banting discovered, however, that a kind of state of suspended animation could exist. The heart went into a state of fibrillation, or soft rapid flutter, which indeed could not be detected even with the use of a stethoscope. This can be detected through the use of an electrocardiograph.

On the basis of these findings, the Health League of Canada, in company with the St. John's Ambulance Association and the Canadian Red Cross Society, advocates that artificial respiration be started at once, continued without cessation, even in ambulance on the way to the hospital, and kept up for at least four hours or until rigor mortis, an unmistakable sign of death, sets in.

Several actual cases were outlined where persons were revived after prolonged artificial respiration, even when the victim had been under water for as long as half an hour.

The first Canadian paper will dates from the year 1803.

Who Says Safety Education Doesn't Pay?

A year ago, many well-intentioned people were clamoring publicly for a ban on plastic bags used to protect dry-cleaning. This hue and cry arose over the suffocation deaths of a number of infants when the material was misused as a makeshift crib mattress cover in babies' cribs or as a toy in the playpen.

As is so often the case with a new and relatively unknown hazard, the first few murmurs of panic grew almost to public hysteria, and the danger was exaggerated out of all proportion.

Health and Safety organizations across Canada conferred on this new problem and their findings were unanimous: There was nothing inherently hazardous in this product, but only through misuse did it become a child-killer. It was decided that a campaign be instituted immediately to alert the public to this new hazard through newspaper, radio and television.

The response of the press can be best expressed by the following editorial which appeared in the August, 1959 issue of Canadian Printer and Publisher:

"A SPLENDID EXAMPLE of how responsibility can be thrust upon the press — suddenly and unexpectedly — lies in the current scare promoted by deaths involving plastic film bags such as these being used by dry cleaners."

Sensations are forever making news. This type of sensation, however, enables newspapers and magazines to fulfill the very constructive, positive function of educating the general public.

Education is the only rational answer to the danger of suffocation by polyethylene film.

Some alarmists have begun to scream for a ban on the product. The same mentality would have outlawed electricity, gas, aspirin, and rope.

The genius of man will continue to develop useful, beneficial products with risks attached; and mankind will have to learn how to handle them properly.

The task of communicating these risks lies initially with the manufacturers and sales outlets; but the main burden of education falls upon the printed media. Editors, writers and illustrators thus face the challenge and the duty of enlightening the adult population, and all children old enough to read and understand."

And so from obscurity this newest hazard was given such prominence that parents were confronted with sensible and practical warnings, wherever they turned.

The Society of the Plastics Industry (Can.) Inc. and the Canadian Research Institute of Launderers and Cleaners quickly and willingly shouldered their responsibility, by displaying posters in all dry cleaning establishments, and by placing warning streamers or labels on all cleaned garments protected with this material. The Society also worked out a standard warning label for printing on plastic film of 1 mil thickness or less.

Maternity hospitals across Canada went to work to warn all mothers of new babies, by distributing an informative pamphlet on the new hazard.

The results? No deaths from this cause reported in the first 4 months of 1960 versus at least fifteen in the same period during 1959. . . WHO SAYS SAFETY EDUCATION DOES NOT PAY?

Other Motorists Not Mind Readers

Not until "D-Day" (Disney-Day) arrives, when all motor traffic is guided electronically within a plastic traffic-tube and drivers have no decisions to make after they pre-set their routes, will the menace of the non-signalling driver disappear. Until that Utopian era, every vehicle driver must be constantly aware of the fact that his mind is not an open book and other drivers have only one way of knowing what he intends to do. That one way, of course, is his signals.

Left-hand turns, right-hand turns, stops, lane-jumps, many other motorist movements can be safely made only when the rest of the drivers and pedestrians know they are coming. Some drivers simply can't be bothered signalling. Why, they ask, should they go out of their way to tell others what they're going to do? The answer is simple: If they don't, the others might crash into them.

Police have found that a frighteningly large number of drivers do not realize that signals are protection, not only for the rest of traffic but for themselves. No motorist is a mind reader, cautions the Canadian Highway Safety Council, and urges every motorist to make clear to everybody his intended movements in traffic.

More than 1,100 miles of railway track in Canada is now under Centralized Traffic Control, the electronics system which permits dispatchers at central points to set signals and throw switches over long distances; C.T.C. speeds traffic, reduces the chance of an accident, and permits a single track to carry 75 per cent as much traffic as ordinary double track.

The trouble with the younger generation is that so many of us don't belong to it anymore.

It is estimated that at least 90 per cent of all physical work in a modern factory is done by power, mostly electrical.

WEAN LAMBS AT FIFTEEN WEEKS

Lambs should be weaned from the ewe when they reach fifteen weeks of age, advises L. S. Hamilton, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Past that age, the mother merely provides pleasant company for the lamb.

In tests at the Experimental Station lambs weaned at fifteen weeks reached the required market weight and finished 30 days earlier than lambs weaned at 10 weeks, and 20 days earlier than those weaned at 20 weeks. Carcass weight and dressing percentage were in favour of the 15-week group, although there were more grade "A" carcasses in the 10 and 20 week groups.

Lambs weaned at each of the three ages were pastured as a group without creep-feeding, and rotated over good pasture until ready for market.

It does not seem advisable to wean lambs at the early age of ten weeks and certainly not without the benefit of supplemental feed, says Mr. Hamilton. However, lambs weaned at 15 weeks can be expected to do well when provided with good pasture.

RAG APPLES NOW NAMED "ROYAL"

Although the name Rag Apple originated in the U.S.A., it is now more widely known in Canada where over ninety percent of the breeders of purebred Holsteins are working with the "Rag Apple" family. In fact the "Rag Apple" family has been largely responsible for the large export business in Holstein cattle that Canadian breeders enjoy, and through which they have sent Rag Apples to thirty different countries throughout the world.

Folklore relates that during the latter part of the last century Rag Apple bushes, a type of dwarf apple trees, were much in vogue as a camouflage for farm out-buildings in upper New York State. The fruit was particularly sweet and smooth and legend has it that when a Holstein calf was born beside a Rag Apple bush on the farm of Don Wood, West Winfield, N.Y., someone exclaimed, "She's smooth and sweet as a Rag Apple," and so the calf was officially called Rag Apple and the family name began.

Now it is planned to add the designation "Royal" to the Rag Apple name with the "Royal Rag Apple Sales." The first sale will be held August 12th at Earlville, N.Y., near the spot where the original Rag Apple calf was born. About 75 top members of the Rag Apple family will be offered for sale, about two-thirds from leading herds in Canada, and the balance from the U.S.A.

Every indication points to the "Royal" designation, adding lustre to a Rag Apple name that has become a byword throughout the world wherever Holstein cattle are raised.

The cattle business seems to attract colourful personalities, and one of the best known is Gordon Ainslie, of Curries, Ontario, who is selecting the Canadian cattle for this sale. "The reputation of Canadian Rag Apples is at stake and I want nothing but the best for the Royal Rag Apple," said Gordon when discussing consignments with Canadian breeders. He is getting the best, too, and Canadian breeders have high hopes that the Royal Rag Apple series will provide a top sales medium for their best Holsteins.

A typical showmanship gesture will be a clambake the day previous to the sale, with a cattle parade thrown in for good measure.

PLASTIC COVERS CUT SILAGE LOSSES

Plastic covers will cut silage losses at the top of the silo, according to J. R. Lessard of the Kapuskasing Experimental Farm.

Normally, in a 150-ton upright silo, spoilage will vary from three to ten tons. At the Kapuskasing station, spoilage was reduced to less than a ton by covering the silo with a plastic film. The actual amount saved was even greater than these results indicate since an air tight cover also reduces the dry matter losses.

Plastic covers can also be used to advantage on trench and stack silos. In such silos dry matter losses of 50 per cent are not uncommon. When covered with a plastic film total losses may be reduced to about 10 per cent which compares favourably with those in upright silos.

Air is one of the main causes of silage losses and plastic covers provide a relatively inexpensive air barrier. The plastic film should be of dark color and at least 0.004 inches thick. The entire surface of the silage has to be covered and the edges sealed.

For upright silos a ring of wet material or sawdust around the silo, on top of the plastic film, acts as a seal by keeping the edges of the plastic cover against the silo walls.

With trench or stack silos the plastic film should be firmly secured, and sealed along its edges with soil. If the covers get torn they should be repaired immediately.

HOW FARMERS MANAGE CORN

One of the rewards of farming is the challenge it offers. Take corn for instance: there are as many ways to handle the crop as there are kernels on an ear and no one can say that any one way is the correct way. Greenville County Agricultural Representative, Carmen Tennant, recently questioned the grain corn winners of last year's Eastern Ontario Crop Conference. Here is what he found.

Without exception, the men felt they got more feed off an acre with grain corn than with oats. Their average yields ranged from 65 to 100 bushels per acre and all recommend it as a dairy, beef, poultry and hog feed.

Early planting is necessary. Many farmers said May 14th others gave a range from May 15th to June 1st. All planted the early hybrids for their corn zone.

Most liked medium flats and medium round size of seed.

Many preferred fall-plowed land; others said they got good results on spring-plowed sod. Most liked to grow their corn on sandy loam soil.

All used quite a bit of fertilizer. For instance: one applied 300 pounds of 4-24-20, another put on 250 pounds of 10-10-10, another applied 200 pounds of 5-10-13.

Weed control methods varied: Most relied on 2,4-D, some depended entirely on cultivation, and a few used simazine.

Most important factors in corn production? They felt a warm, well-drained soil, high fertility, early hybrids, early planting, a well-prepared seed bed, weed control, and low moisture at harvest time were most important.

WARBLE FLY CONTROL MAKES MAJOR ADVANCE

Major advance in the eradication and control of warble fly is reported by the Live Stock Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture following the completion of a project designed to determine the effectiveness of a systemic preparation which can be used by cattle breeders by spraying at the conclusion of the fly season in the fall. Exhaustive tests as to the efficiency of the product were carried out by the Live Stock Branch in co-operation with the manufacturers of the product.

Sixteen cattle feeders in the Counties of Huron and Bruce participated in the project. Cattle treated were chiefly yearlings that had been purchased in Western Canada. Approximately 50 to 60 per cent of the cattle were sprayed with the new product on each premises, the balance being left unsprayed to serve as checks.

The spray was applied during the last week of October and the first week of November, while the grub population counts were made during the week of April 18th, 1960. The advantage of the treatment is that it destroys the grub before it causes discomfort or damages the hide.

Under the test 570 animals and 377 were untreated as checks. Of the total animals sprayed 439 were found to be free of grubs while those showing some signs of infestation showed a total of only 351 grubs in the entire 16 herds under test, the count running from 4 to 94 per herd in the treated animals.

Unsprayed animals totalled 377 with only 118 being found free of infestation. Some 2,180 grubs were counted on the untreated herd as compared to the 351 reported in the treated group.

Grubs per animal of the treated herd totalled .61 as compared to 5.78 in the untreated herd. Animals found free of grubs in the sprayed herd totalled 77.0 per cent as against 31.3 in the untreated herd. Some 60 of the treated herd were found to have only one grub against 17 of the untreated herd. Over 87 per cent of the treated herd had less than two grubs as against 35.8 per cent of the untreated

Of the treated cattle there were only 61 grubs on every 100 animals. The untreated cattle had 5.78 grubs per animal or 578 for every 100 head.

It is significant that 77 out of every 100 sprayed cattle were free of grubs while in the untreated cattle only 31 out of each hundred fell into that category.

Included in the group sprayed were 2 cattle with 14 grubs, one with 16 and one with 17. These four cattle accounted for 61 of the 351 grubs found in the cattle that had been treated. In view of the relatively low incidence of infestation in the other treated cattle it is reasonable to assume that these four animals did not receive a thorough application of the treatment.

This project amply demonstrated the effectiveness of the treatment and also in the control of lice. All co-operators reported a total absence of the symptoms associated with louse infestation. Furthermore no evidence of lice was found by Department of officials when population counts were made.

WEED OF THE WEEK

TOAD FLAX

Although Toad Flax has many picturesque names such as Butter and Eggs, Wild Snapdragon, Runstead, and Flax Weed, it is a serious weed in Ontario, reports the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Toad Flax thrives best on sandy soils, and spreads quickly both by seeds and roots. Once established, it will crowd out grain crops as well as grasses and legumes in forage fields, and may withstand more than two years of intensive cultivation. Cattle dislike its taste and odour, and in pastures it is often left to produce seeds and root stalks. Seed-bearing plants are found in baled hay and are spread when manure is applied to fields.

The stems of Toad Flax are smooth, one to two feet tall, with few branches. The leaves are long and narrow, usually a pale green. The yellow flowers are in dense clusters, with the lip of each flower a deep orange. From this appearance it gets its name Butter and Eggs.

Control is difficult, since this weed flowers continually from early June to September. Repeated cuttings of the flower head will help and a full summer fallow will control it. 2,4-D is not very effective, but may delay seed setting and retard growth. Special soil sterilants will destroy patches and keep it from spreading.

If Toad Flax is found in a grain field that has not been seeded down, an intensive after-harvest cultivation is necessary. If it persists, do not seed down the following year, as this weed must be removed before putting a field in hay or pasture.

Prevent seed setting by mowing, hoeing, spraying, or tillage. Move harvesting machinery with care in infested areas, and cultivate patches separately.

Timely Tips

"A weak oat crop might make weeds a problem in new seedlings this year, says Howard Henry, field crops specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. "Spray with 16 to 20 ounces of 2,4-DB acid (trade name: Embutox E) in at least 15 gallons per acre," advises Henry. "Hit the crop when the legumes have 1 to 4 trifoliate leaves."

"Try the grab test when putting up silage," advises Ivan Bell, Associate Agricultural Representative. "Take a handful of chopped forage and squeeze it hard. If water squeezes out and if the ball stays compact when you open your hand, the forage is too wet. If water doesn't squeeze out and the ball slowly springs apart, it is about the correct moisture percentage. Too-dry material will spring apart as soon as the hand is opened."

"Don't let children under 16 drive a tractor on the highway," advises Agricultural Representative D. Black. "Besides being against the law, chances of an accident are increased; children just haven't got the responsibility and experience of older people."

"Heavy-weight market hogs require more feed to make a pound of gain than lighter-weight ones," says Garnet Norrish, O.A.C. swine researcher. "Market your pigs to provide carcasses weighing 140 to 150 pounds."

Remember, your life is more valuable than the rod or rifle you may lose. Your Red Cross reminds you that you should plan beforehand exactly what you will do in case of a boating accident. Keep calm, and stay with the boat until help arrives. Be Water Wise this summer!

CONSERVATION NEWS

Summary of Fur Harvest

A summary of the fur harvest in the Tweed Forest District is now being compiled. To complete the records all persons who participated in the taking of raw pelts are asked to submit a return form to their local Conservation Officer, stating the amount of fur taken during the past season.

Some species of raw fur have to be sealed before it can be offered for sale. From these records the Department has been able to determine the following harvest and the approximate value received by local trappers:

Fisher — 26, approximate value $400.00
Marten — 1, approximate value $12.00
Mink — 1423, approximate value $17,000.00
Otter — 134, approximate value $2,700.00
The total revenue received — $100,112.00.

Burning Winter Debris Can Endanger Forests, Private Property

A fire permit is required before any burning is done. The only exception here is a fire built for warmth or for cooking, but care should be taken to see that the camp fire is dead out before you leave the scene. A fire permit is obtainable at any Forest Ranger headquarters or from authorized Township Fire Wardens.

It is a good idea to discuss your proposed burning with a Forest Ranger or Fire Warden because he might foresee some problem you might have and give you proper advice.

Anyone obtaining a fire permit should know that his responsibilities do not end with the issuing of the permit. In fact, he is liable for any damage caused by his fire getting out of hand and can also be assessed the costs of having the fire put out.

A final word of caution: We have seen people throw live cigarette butts from their cars in the winter. Not a fire hazard at the time — but it's a bad habit that can be carried through the rest of the year. So, motorists are urged to use their ash trays — even when driving over city pavements. Such good habits could save the forests.

Following too close is one of the most prevalent of bad driving habits. The Ontario Safety League quotes a sign seen on the rear of a truck: "Don't hug me... I'm going steady!"

Psychiatrist: "Why do you keep snapping your fingers?"
Patient: "It keeps the tigers away."

Patient: "It works, doesn't it?"

Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart

50 Years Married

Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Stewart celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Monday at their home on the Ninth Line.

On June 20th, 1910, John Wesley Stewart was united in marriage to Catherine May McKeown, daughter of the late Thos. McKeown and Catherine Reid. John was the only son of the late James Stewart and Elizabeth Duncan. The marriage took place at the home of the bride on the 12th Line with the Rev. A. S. Dickinson officiating. They were unattended.

After a wedding trip to Forward, Saskatchewan, they took up residence on the 9th Line, where John was born. They have lived there ever since and all wish them many more happy years together.

To this union were born three children, Raymond, at home; Mrs. Wm. (Jean) Donaldson, Peterboro; and Mrs. Albert (Vera) Holland, of Havelock.

A few friends called on Saturday evening and on Sunday a turkey dinner was held with Mr. Stewart's sisters, Miss Grace Stewart, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Purvis Allan, of Campbellford; Mrs. Stewart's sister, Mrs. Lily Anderson and sons Eldon and Lorne and Mrs. Florence McKeown, Springbrook, as well as their family present.

The dining room table was decorated with roses and rosettes of gold ribbon, while a beautifully decorated three-storey wedding cake graced the table, flanked on either side by gold coloured candles in crystal holders.

The bride of 50 years, who last week was ill in bed, looked charming in an empire frock of mauve nylon sheer with a corsage of golden roses. Here husband was dapper in a charcoal shade suit with boutonniere of white carnation.

A dainty lunch was served to all callers by their two daughters, Mrs. Donaldson (Jean) and Mrs. Holland (Vera), their son's wife, Mrs. Ray Stewart and granddaughter Marilyn.

The room where Mr. and Mrs. Stewart received their guests was a bower of June flowers, roses, peonies, lilies, etc.

Among the lovely gifts from visiting relatives and friends were two platform rockers, one in brown from their family and one in maroon, with a hassock footstool to match from the neighbours; also a lamp with gold shade, a grey and maroon rug to match the chair, several pieces of china, pottery, crystal and linen.

We extend congratulations and best wishes for many more happy years together for the bride and groom of 50 years.

Between 75 and 80 guests signed the guest book.

Cyclists Beware!

Chief of Police D. Kitcheson reports that numerous complaints are being received of boys riding bicycles on the local sidewalks without due care for the rights of pedestrians. Due to the condition of the Village streets no action has been taken against those cyclists using the sidewalks as a thoroughfare, but the pedestrians have their rights and cyclists must use due care. A continuance of the complaints will necessitate taking action against those breaking the local bylaw in this regard.

Presbyterial Summer Rally At West Huntingdon

On June 15th Presbyterian women from almost every adult missionary auxiliary in the large Kingston Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society went by car or bus to attend the Summer Rally at West Huntingdon. More than forty came from Kingston, including Mrs. I. A. Gollan and her daughter Agnes, the chief speaker of the day.

The theme for the meeting was "Go Tell," from the command of the risen Christ to the disciples. At the morning session, after a short service led by Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. Reddick, of Picton, and a hearty welcome from Mrs. Donnan, West Huntingdon, Mrs. W. H. V. Walker gave a report of the Synodical meeting, stressing the work of Christian literature and of "Glad Tidings." Mrs. W. H. Leslie Smith, Kingston, Presbyterian Treasurer, gave a most interesting report, graphically illustrated by large cardboard charts on which she had tabulated the contributions made during several years by the various adult auxiliaries and younger groups.

After a hymn and a prayer given by Mrs. K. Rooney, Stirling, the visitors enjoyed a delicious lunch provided by the capable West Huntingdon Auxiliary, led by the versatile Mrs. Donnan, who also took part in singing and in playing the piano during the meeting. Miss B. Fleming, West Huntingdon, and Mrs. H. Keefe, Trenton, played other accompaniments.

While the Executive Committee held a meeting, other members looked at the interesting display of literature in charge of Miss T. Watts, of Foxboro. The afternoon session began with devotional exercises led by Mrs. F. Cowan, Pittsburgh, and an illuminating address by Mrs. J. Bush, of the same Auxiliary, on the aim and purpose of the Woman's Missionary Society. She pointed out eagerly and clearly that the Master's mission for the disciples was that they should preach and teach; they had been trained for that purpose. And so the aim and purpose of every member of the W.M.S. must be to go, and tell, and preach or help others to teach, at home and abroad.

After the roll call, which showed the largest attendance at any Summer Rally, and some business, Mrs. Donnan and three other West Huntingdon members sang a most appropriate hymn. Mrs. M. Putnam, of Kingston, introduced the speaker, Miss Agnes Gollan, from Nigeria.

Miss Gollan began with a short quiz about Nigeria. Surprisingly few of her hearers, although many of them had been studying Africa, and especially Nigeria, for some months, seemed able to remember the simple facts asked for, or the pronunciation of names. But the undaunted speaker was cheery and amusing as she gave concise information about the country — a country the size of Ontario, with double the population of Canada. She spoke of its many languages and dialects, and of the missionaries, men and women. Teaching, she said, is very important. She referred to a Nigerian college graduate and high school teacher now studying in Toronto for the ministry, and to the missionaries who are paid by the Nigerian Government as school teachers, while they also develop Christian education. As there are twenty-three languages in Nigeria, compared with the one language, English, brought by the white men, there is no language school for missionaries. They speak English, and interpreters translate what they say to their audiences.

October 1st, 1960, is to be Independence Day for Nigeria. Britain, the speaker pointed out, has worked to bring this about gradually, and the Nigerian Prime Minister has encouraged European experts to stay and help the Government with advice. There is no colour problem in Nigeria; Europeans are not allowed to buy land, and they find the hot, humid climate far from congenial; white men have come and gone; dedicated men and women remain, helped by a few. One African country wants what another has achieved; half the population of Africa will be self-governing by the end of 1960, the "year of destiny." Many Nigerians, through newspapers and radio, know of the great difficulties in parts of the continent, and they like to help other Africans. This is a big year also for the Presbyterian Church of Eastern Nigeria, with its Synod and two Presbyteries, with thirty ministers to look after four hundred places. There are evangelists as well, and ten deaconesses. There are women elders, and the Women's Guild has many active members. But Canadians are sorely needed to train Nigerians.

Miss Gollan gave most interesting details about her work among women and girls. Nigerian women, she said, are merry; they like to dance and sing and play; missionaries are trying to adapt this friendly gaiety to Christian fellowship. Members of the Women's Guild work as evangelists, help the sick in hospitals, and bring other women to meetings. Unfortunately many Nigerians who have been educated at mission schools and have learned about Christianity have not applied it to their daily lives; when they have finished their school training they have often finished with Christianity as well. Canadian missionaries are adapting various Canadian practices to fit Nigerian life; for example, when Nigerian girls go to camp, it is cheaper and more natural for them to take food for themselves; they do not need to have meals together.

Money subscribed for distributing Christian literature will be used in part to set up "visual aids" and to publish a Presbyterian newspaper, which should later become self-supporting. Doctors and nurses are very greatly needed, to train Nigerians, as well as to work in hospitals; preventive work has not yet been touched. But missionaries are helping teachers to carry the Christian gospel to people who are still worshipping evil spirits, and many Nigerian Christians now want to show their thankfulness by a "free will offering," to help to send others the message of God's love. Nigerians are eager to learn; there are three times as many applications to attend high school as there are vacancies. The trained Nigerian Christians are teaching and preaching; the missionaries direct their work. The command "Go, tell," comes to them as it does to us in Canada.

Miss Gollan was heartily thanked by Mrs. John Bailey, of Madoc. The offering was made, and was dedicated by the Presbyterian Treasurer, Mrs. W. H. Leslie Smith. Mrs. E. Wannamaker, of Roslin, thanked those who had in various ways done much to make the meeting interesting and memorable. Mrs. Harold Keefe, of Trenton, mentioned the two W.M.S. anniversaries to be celebrated in 1964 with special projects of special interest. She urged as the finest celebration, increasing the membership and the work of the W.M.S.

Mrs. V. Weir, who presided capably and charmingly throughout the day, spoke briefly. After the theme of the day had been repeated in a stirring hymn and Rev. K. Rooney had pronounced the benediction, the kind West Huntingdon hostesses gave the visitors cheering cups of tea before they all drove away through the lovely countryside.

County Council Sets 1960 Rate

Meeting Thursday last to set county rates for 1960, members of Hastings County Council were told that contrary to former procedure mining grants were no longer to be considered in arriving at equalized county assessment.

An equalized assessment of $29,176,650 was agreed upon for 1961, while the 1960 county general tax rate was set at 12.5 mills plus a debenture levy of .415 mill, and a road levy of 7.5 mills to be paid by those municipalities within the county road system.

The special meeting called by Warden Earl Sager to set the tax rate was a brief session with all business being wound up during the morning.

The village of Frankford was formally admitted as a member of the Bay of Quinte District High School Area with the covering by-law being given the necessary readings.

Other by-laws passed included that for the 1961 equalization; the regular borrowing by-law authorizing borrowing of up to $12,885 or 70 per cent of the county's estimated revenues that for levying county rates and for the road levy against the municipalities comprising the makeup of the county road system.

The year's expenditures for the county were estimated at $1,304,122.61.

Biggest items in the estimated expenditures were administrative salaries at $20,000; jail salaries of $45,000; $414,100 for the regular and supplementary roads by-law; $153,000, for the railway subway north of Trenton; Children's Aid, $117,000; indigent hospitalization, $24,000; county home and farm, $188,000; high schools, $70,048; and reserve for construction of new court house, $87,896.

On the revenue side, receipts from the county home and farm were estimated at $125,000; provincial subsidy for the county home, $46,000; Belleville will pay $42,000 and Trenton $17,500 toward county law enforcement; roads subsidies suburban and sub-way receipts are estimated at $380,640.

The 12.25 general mill rate will raise $354,881 while the road levy of 7.5 mills will raise $186,442.

Waupoos Girl Guide Camp Was Officially Opened on Sunday

One of the finest Girl Guide camps in the province was officially opened Sunday afternoon, two miles east of Waupoos, Prince Edward County. Well over one thousand people attended the ceremonies and inspected the splendid camp site.

On the 200-acre farm are 53 acres of woods, 1,800 feet of shoreline and farm land, which may be share-cropped or rented. The large frame residence, now named Waupoos House, will be the main camp lodge, housing the dining room, administration offices, an infirmary, rooms for Brownies' activities, and bedrooms. Many of these rooms have been furnished by the various divisions and as a result of gifts by friends.

On the farm is a large barn suitable for activities on rainy days and three garages suitable for storing boats.

Some of the Guides' tents are pitched near the house beside the road while others are located near the waterfront, a short distance away. Visitors who came from a wide area, including Peterborough, Bancroft, Stirling, Belleville, Hastings County, Kawartha Lakes, Northumberland and Prince Edward Counties, which form this division which the camp will serve, were greatly impressed.

The farm cost $20,000 to purchase and many thousands more have been spent in renovation and equipment. While some municipal grants have been given, and personal donations received, the Guides and Brownies have been busy raising their share of the funds in a score of different ventures.

Area Commissioner Mrs. M. Haig, of Belleville, told the assembly that it was only due to the fact that many had given so much time to the project that it had been possible to prepare the camp in two months.

About three hundred Guides, Brownies and Sea Rangers formed a horseshoe for the opening ceremonies. Commissioners were given seats of honour on the platform, as were the guests.

In an impressive ceremony, the flags were brought forward and presented and then raised on the pole. The Union Jack and the Guide flag, flying in the breeze, under sunny skies, symbolized the camp's opening. Following a dedicatory prayer, Mrs. Haig stated that the founder of the movement, Lord Baden-Powell, had remarked that 'it is your business in life to be happy and to make others happy. We hope we can make a lot of people happy in this camp.' She expressed appreciation to the many people who had made a dream come true.

Mrs. C. B. Clydsdale, of St. Mary's Ontario Commissioner, was unable to attend and was represented by Miss Margaret Potter, Provincial Camp Adviser and in charge of a similar camp at Doe Lake. On behalf of the Ontario Council, she congratulated the district on acquiring such a beautiful site. It will mean many things to many people, she remarked.

Prince Edward County Warden, Arthur Moore, added his congratulations and good wishes. Mayor H. J. McFarland, of Picton, arrived later to join the group. Unable to attend W. A. Goodfellow, Senator Fraser, and Mrs. Fraser, Lee Grills, M.P., Warden Earl Sager, of Hastings, L. Thompson, M.P., Northumberland.

Mrs. Eva Smith, Trenton, and Mrs. W. D. McArthur, Picton, were called forward and appreciation expressed for their special leadership in the project. Mrs. Haig presented them with gold Thanks pins. Mention was made of the assistance given by Mike Finnigan, who brought the possibility of the site to the attention.

Following the ceremonies visitors inspected the house and then went to the waterfront to see a pioneer camp and a model camp.

This camp will serve some four thousand Guides and Brownies in the district and the official opening was a thrilling day for all of them as well as for the various leaders.

Letter To The Editor

Well, Stirling has had its share of bad streets for some time, but that isn't anything compared to bad mothers. How would you feel if instead of the mothers going to the Missionary Society, W.A. and Institute, etc., they were spending their time and dad's money in the women's beer parlor? What an example for the family!

Thank goodness Stirling can really hold her head high and unashamed and be proud of her young people. But shame! shame! on Collingwood (a women's beverage room). They will never live that disgrace down for ages to come. (S.G.M.)

Live pedestrians, and successful men always think fast on their feet.

12-HOUR DAILY SERVICE BEGINS ON TRENT CANAL

Trent canal locks will be in operation 12 hours daily, from 8.30 a.m. to 8.30 p.m., from July 1st to September 11th, according to a notice to mariners issued by the Department of Transport at the beginning of the navigation season.

Eggleton Mission Band Meets

The June meeting of Eggleton Mission Band was held on Friday afternoon at the school with 25 members, a few visitors and five W.M.S. members present.

At the front the worship centre had been arranged with an African picture in the background, the open Bible at the front and a vase of lovely pink roses on one side.

The leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, had arranged a display of maps, posters, roller with sheets of music, etc. to show some of the work accomplished by the Mission Band members.

Ivan Reid presided over a program prepared by Dianne Prest and Lois Danford. The Scripture Lesson, John 1:1-10, was read by Isabelle Prest.

Carol White read a poem, "God's World." Earlier Mission Band Gift Boxes had been placed in each home and were to be returned at the June meeting. Sheila Clarke gathered the boxes in a basket and this offering was dedicated with prayer by the W.M.S. President, Mrs. B. Stapley. The pupils sang "Father We Thank Thee."

Mrs. Carl Bridges sent word saying she had a number of tulip bulbs to donate to the Mission Band to sell in the Fall. World Friends papers were distributed by Vickie Browning, Lois Danford and Brian Kovach. Mrs. Clancy spoke briefly, welcoming the visitors and also thanked those who had helped the Mission Band in any way during the year.

A poem "If I Had Lived Next Door to Jesus," was read by Beverley Stapley. The last two chapters of the study book was presented by Mrs. Clancy. It explained how Old Hippo was captured, loaded into a river boat and sent to a zoo. In the closing chapter the Bologes family introduces a neighbour to the clinic and also gave an invitation to the special church programme.

The children chose up sides with Marilyn Stapley and Isabelle Prest as leaders and played an African game, "Ntuba." A number of the children played the African drums.

At the close all enjoyed the treats of cookies and homemade candy.

19-Year-Olds Require Separate Hospital Insurance

Many parents still do not realize that their dependent children no longer have hospital insurance with the family after they reach age 19. According to the Ontario Hospital Services Commission some young people of 19 are found to be uninsured when they are admitted for hospital treatment.

About 77,000 children in Ontario will reach age 19 this year, and while many of them will become insured on their own through becoming employed in insured groups, others must arrange to pay premiums directly to the Commission or they will be uninsured when the need arises.

Care should be taken to act promptly to keep insured. Application forms are available at all hospitals, most banks, or any office of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission.

50th Anniversary St. Thomas W.A.

St. Thomas W.A. celebrated their fiftieth anniversary on Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Lindsay Tanner. Bouquets of peonies, roses, sweet william and mums, made the occasion more beautiful. The W.A. had as their guests St. Paul's W.A., Marmora; St. Mark's W.A., Bancroft; and Salem W.A., numbering about sixty members.

The President opened the meeting with the W.A. hymn, "The Love of Christ Constrains," followed by prayers by Rev. R. G. Fleming. Mrs. Ed. Colden read the Scripture Lesson.

Mrs. Preston, on behalf of St. Thomas W.A., extended a warm welcome to everyone and expressed pleasure of having such a large attendance on this special occasion. She then called on Mrs. Lindsay Tanner, who welcomed all to her home, mentioning especially Mrs. O'Krafka, Deanery President, of Trenton, and her mother, Mrs. Albert Reid, of Foxboro; Mrs. Pearl Mumby, Mrs. Ken Mumby and Mrs. Harold Morgan, all of Stirling; Mrs. Harry Stout, of Madoc, and Miss Agnes Stout, of Peterborough, one time worthy members of St. Thomas W.A. Mrs. Tanner then asked all to stand for a minute's silence in commemoration of the deceased, following which Rev. Fleming offered prayer.

The Rector then spoke words of congratulations to the W.A. for their splendid efforts and work done over the past years, and wished them continued success. He also thanked Mrs. Tanner for opening her home for this occasion. He spoke words of welcome to the guests on behalf of himself and St. Thomas W.A.

Mrs. W. J. Tanner gave a very interesting resume of the history of the W.A. from its beginning 50 years ago. Mrs. (Rev.) Dickinson formed St. Thomas W.A. and Mrs. Tanner mentioned several of the most active members at that time were Mrs. Jas. Stout, Mrs. Chas. Sweet, Mrs. William Jeffrey, Mrs. N. Tanner, Mrs. James Bateman and Mrs. Robert Stout. She told of the work which has been carried on through the years, making obligations, packing bales and lending a helping hand wherever needed, and concluded by saying, "now we are a small branch with a determination to carry on, always relying on our W.A. motto, 'she hath done what she could'."

Mrs. Burton Woodbeck, representing St. Mark's, sang "I Forgive." This was enjoyed very much.

Mrs. Preston introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. O'Krafka, Deanery President, who gave a very timely address, leaving a message to be remembered.

Mrs. Frank McGee gave an appropriate reading. Miss Edna Tanner, on behalf of St. Thomas W.A., thanked the guest speaker and all who helped with the success of the day. A hymn was sung and Rev. Fleming closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Mel Wickens, on behalf of the visiting W.A.'s, thanked the hostess branch for the lovely afternoon.

Lunch was served, topped off with a beautifully decorated anniversary cake donated and made by Mrs. Ted Preston and Mrs. Les Preston and decorated by Mrs. Harold Morgan. Mrs. W. J. Tanner, a life member cut the cake.

The members of St. Thomas W.A. wish to extend thanks and appreciation to everyone who helped make their fiftieth anniversary such a successful event, both spiritually as well as one to be long remembered.

Madoc Gets

7 Digit Dialing

Phones in the village of Madoc underwent a change from crank handle to a seven-digit dialing system on Sunday, June 19th.

The new Bell Telephone system puts the village of 1,500 ahead of larger centres in Ontario where letters still are dialed for an exchange.

(By Rev. C. R. Rudd)

The whole of Africa with its 250,000,000 population is in a state of tumultuous change. The course of Africa's future will be determined in the course of a comparatively few years. The Bible Societies are supporting the Christians, who number about 30,000,000 with increasing distribution of Scriptures. New centres of work are being established in which native Africans, in rapidly increasing numbers, are taking places of leadership.

The British and Foreign Bible Society reports that at the moment 1,286,000 gospels are being produced to meet the demand in 65 languages, of which half in 55 languages are being produced in Great Britain. Various African presses are producing the other 600,000 in 10 different languages. Included in this number are large quantities of 50,000 to 150,000 in languages like Hausa, Swahili, Zulu and Suto and small numbers of as little as a 1,000 for obscure tribes like the Gu Olada in French West Africa, where the Canadian Bible Society shares in the work, and 2,000 for the Ila tribe in Rhodesia. Estimates of the cost of 1,180,000 Gospels to date is $75,000.00.

New Bible Society Auxiliaries have been established in East Africa and the Rhodesias. In other locations Area Advisory Councils have been established. Suggested Bible Readings

Sunday — 1 Peter 1: 1-25
Monday — Deuteronomy 8: 1-20
Tuesday — Joshua 1: 1-18
Wednesday — 2 Kings 6: 1-19
Thursday — Amos 2: 1-10
Friday — Amos 3: 1-14
Saturday — Amos 5: 4-24

The motto, study the past, work in the present, plan for the future, prepared by Mrs. Harry Fanning, was given by Mrs. John Carlisle.

It will be 55 years on September 10th since Wellman's Institute was organized. There are 6 living charter members. Wellman's have had three District Presidents, 1 Area President and 1 District Secretary in that time. One of the most noted pieces of work done by the Wellman's Institute was the cleaning of the cemetery, beginning August 23rd, 1916. Since this cemetery has been one of the best kept in the district. There was also much work done by the ladies during both World Wars. There were many other interesting points brought out.

Little Miss Dawn Beckett took up the collection. Mrs. Seeley thanked those taking part in the programme, also the hostesses. The Creed was repeated, followed by the Queen.

SUMMER GREENS

Summer and greens go together! Summer is the time that gardens produce a variety of delicious greens and is the ideal time to highlight the dinner table with green salads.

Lettuce is the most popular green used in salads and there is a good variety to choose from. The familiar iceberg or head lettuce is firm and solid with crisp leaves. Boston lettuce has smaller, softer leaves with tender, inner leaves that feel oily or buttery. The Romaine type of lettuce has a long, narrow upright head and the leaves are stiff and spoon-shaped. It also has a more distinctive flavour than other types of lettuce. Leaf lettuce does not head and its curly or smooth leaves grow in many shapes and shades.

We sometimes forget, however, that lettuce can be replaced or complemented with various other greens. The following greens add variety and flavour to a green salad:

Chicory or Curly Endive — a loosely formed head of narrow, curled, feathery leaves; it has dark green outer leaves and a pale yellow heart; it has a slightly bitter flavour.

Endive or French Endive — Looks somewhat like small, light, creamy-white head of celery except that the leaves are broad and thick and taper to a point.

Escarole — has broad wavy leaves with ruffled edges, darker green outer leaves lighter at centre; less tender than some of the other greens and is slightly bitter.

Spinach — the broad, dark green leaves of young, tender spinach add variety to the salad bowl.

Watercress — has small, bright green dainty leaves and tender stems. It has an agreeable, peppery flavour.

Chard — the dark green wavy leaves may be used alone as greens or may be chopped up with the white stalks.

Parsley — the bright green crinkly leaves are usually used for a garnish, but combine well with other salad greens.

The tender young leaves of turnips, beets, and celery also add a gourmet touch to everyday green salads.

With such an interesting variety, is it any wonder that summer and greens go together!

SOCIALISM COSTS MONEY

A friend of mine told me the other day that I waste my time writing about socialism.

"Socialism cannot exist for very long," said he. "Little by little, the people begin to see that socialism is expensive. When payments for social services start to really pinch, they will come to realize that a dollar sent to Ottawa comes back badly shrunk. The day is getting closer when politicians will hesitate to promise more socialist schemes because the voters are getting wise to the fact that they must be paid for."

He may be right. However, governments — all governments — are inclined to hide the cost of social services. They take the money out of the good old General Fund. The people don't know what they are paying for — they only know they don't have much money of their own left for spending of their own choice. A few provincial governments have the courage to let the people know what various social plans are costing, and such rare government courage ought to be applauded.

Business, too, is inclined to pay up for welfare costs, without telling people about it. Businessmen ought to make it very clear that they pick up the check for a large portion of the handouts, and when business doesn't make money, social services are going to suffer.

Socialists get away with the most ridiculous claims from time to time. They will talk about the success of some state-owned enterprise, never once admitting that it had access to free capital, or that past failures weren't charged up against it.

The New Party, financed by union members who fail to "contract out," will have a fortune at its disposal for propaganda purposes. The socialist war chest will be full to overflowing. With such funds, it would be foolish indeed to think that socialism is going to pass out of the picture in a hurry.

The need to write about the dangers of socialism is, in my opinion, greater than ever. Socialists have attained influential positions in almost every important organization in Canada, and they are thus able to wield power far in excess of their numbers.

Labour Minister Urges Pupils To Stay In School

Ottawa, June 1960

Dear Sir:

This is the time of year when young people start to think about leaving school to obtain permanent employment. Hundreds of students still in elementary school or the early years of high school will turn their backs on the classrooms in this country and walk into the work world, many unprepared to meet present demands, let alone the demands of the future.

In many instances, with them will go the shattered hopes of parents and relatives, for whether these young people realize it or not, they will be running the risk of never getting the chance to become a successful part of Canadian industry and business.

This situation is not confined to any strata of society, nor are its effects isolated by city limits or provincial boundaries. If the present rate of drop-outs from Canadian schools continues, with its adverse effects on the economy, it can't help but affect every individual, industry, and business establishment; in fact, every organization in this and future generations.

It has been said that education, in its broadest sense, is the foundation of a nation. Can we afford to stand by and watch large numbers of our youth leave the school system unprepared for the modern demands of industry and citizenship?

About 70 per cent of the pupils enrolled in grade two in our schools today will leave the school system before receiving their junior matriculation or its equivalent, in many cases ill-equipped to compete for anything but the unskilled and semi-skilled types of employment... without the necessary flexibility to meet the problems workers are bound to face in the rapidly changing occupational categories resulting from the application of more and more advanced technology.

The magnitude of the problem is brought into sharp focus by a recent study carried out by the Department of Labour on figures produced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Of the 396,000 youngsters who enrolled in grade two in 1957-58, 131,000 will leave school before reaching high school, some with a grade eight education and others with less. Between first year high school and junior matriculations, 139,000 more will drop out and 95,000 additional students will leave between junior matriculation and first year of university. Only 31,000, less than 10 per cent, will go on to university.

What awaits the person who drops out of school without enough education to guarantee his or her future in a highly industrialized country. An examination of occupation in Canada, provides a pretty clear indication. About 70 per cent of the jobs available in this country today are of a professional, semi-skilled, technical or skilled nature, and only 30 per cent of employment consists of semi-skilled or unskilled occupations. It is in this last category of employment that most of those with less than a junior matriculation will find themselves competing and, if present trends continue, the problem will become worse as the proportion of unskilled and semi-skilled jobs in the economy decreases in the future.

What is required is a basic change in our thinking and in social attitudes for, in the final analysis, the deplorable drop-out rate must reflect the fact that we adults are not yet convinced of the desirability or necessity of advanced education. Here is the crux of the problem. As parents we must realize the impact of advanced technology and automation of Canadian business and industry in recent years. What was adequate yesterday in the way of education is becoming less and less adequate today.

It is natural that some parents would judge present circumstances in the light of their own experiences and assess education today in the light of the education they received years ago, when Grade Eight was a relatively valuable asset in obtaining a job or learning a skill or trade. Today, to learn that same trade or skill, most youths will need junior matriculation or better. This is not because the standards of the educational system have dropped, but it is because more basic education is required to understand the theories and laws involved in the production and maintenance of all the machines and products which we marvel at and enjoy in this complex age.

Just as our country has advanced in the past few decades, so our need for more education has increased. A full realization of this fact by all adults, and children would surely bring about a much-needed change in social attitudes.

The solution to the school drop-out problem rests with every Canadian. The answers must come from industry educators, governments, unions, and all organizations, as well as from the parents and the children themselves.

The form of the answers will differ, but they must recognize one fact — that education can no longer be classed as a luxury, but rather as a necessity — a necessity for a people who must be flexible to face an ever-changing occupational pattern.

I am sure you share my concern over this problem and with this in mind, I ask your co-operation in bringing the seriousness of it before both young and old of our community.

If you should decide to write an editorial on the problem or to develop a feature story based on your local situation and addressed to youth, I would appreciate receiving a copy of this material.

Thank you for your attention and for your kind co-operation.

Yours sincerely,

MICHAEL STARR

Hort. Societies Visit Rose Gardens In N.Y. State

(By Phil Dodds, Picton Gazette)

Rolling green grounds covering many acres with beds containing thousands of roses of almost every variety feature the Jackson & Perkins rose gardens near Newark, N.Y. Saturday was also the occasion of the American Rose Society annual show when some of the most beautiful blooms were added to the panorama of colour and fragrance offered visitors.

Saturday saw close to three hundred members of Horticultural Societies, and friends, from Kingston and Bay of Quinte district, converge on Newark for the annual meeting of District No. 3, Ontario Horticultural Society.

Five bus loads carried 154 persons from Prince Edward County, while the remainder travelled by buses starting at Kingston, while others drove by car. Represented in the Kingston buses were societies at Gananoque, Napanee, Stirling, Brighton and Brockville. Attractive name cards identified the Canadians in the crowds of some fifteen thousand visitors to the gardens that day.

Elect Officers

At a brief meeting of the District, Mrs. J. S. Shepherdson, who has given energetic leadership for some years, was re-elected as district director, with Mrs. James McHarg, of the Kingston society again named as secretary-treasurer. Phil Dodds, president of the Prince Edward Society, was again named public relations chairman. Secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Society, R. Gomme, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, was present and commended the District Societies on their work and enthusiasm.

Chicken Barbecue

One of the highlights of the day was a chicken barbecue dinner served by Becken's poultry farms of Newark, in Grange Hall. It was learned that the farms use 40,000 broilers each week and that they are ready for barbecue at just over nine weeks after hatching. This was a delectable supper, including half of a barbecued chicken and was served most efficiently.

Saturday was a comparatively quiet day at the gardens, according to John Heisse of the Jackson and Perkins Co. He stated there had been 60,000 visitors the previous Sunday and 35,000 were expected on Sunday for the crowning of the Rose Queen. So great is the number of cars that buses are run from parking lots a mile away. Last year, it was estimated that 800,000 people visited the gardens and on one day, 32 different states were represented.

One of the features of the firm's work is the developing of new varieties and Mr. Heisse stated that if they secured a new variety which will stand all tests from ten thousand attempts they consider it lucky.

Seventeen Acres Roses

The seventeen acres of roses are said to constitute the largest rose gardens in the world. While the great beds of bloom formed a mass of colour, the effects of wind and rain which swept the area several days during the week was evident. The climbers on white trellis and posts were not affected however, and gorgeous blooms stood out against a background of green grass, trees and ornamental shrubs.

Beds of roses are laid out to give visitors ideas on planting as well, while name tags could be copied of favourite varieties. There are some 36,000 plants that may be seen in small, individual gardens, in specialized sections or massed in formal plantings that are truly spectacular. Among them, here and there, rose trees, like giant bouquets, rise here and there.

Development Costly

According to the company's representatives, who conducted tours for the visitors, it costs as high as $50,000 to develop an acceptable new variety of rose. These new varieties, as well as regular stock, are grown on 2000 acres near Newark, apart from the gardens themselves.

Visitors saw some breath-taking specimens of roses in the show held in the garden house, with honors going to growers in many parts of New York State. Near by is the huge amphitheatre which seats ten thousand people for special events which go on during the summer long festival.

Helpful Hints

Speaking to the visitors, John Heisse gave some helpful tips on exhibiting roses. He suggested cutting roses the night before a show and placing them in the refrigerator. If cut in the morning, ice water will help prevent the bloom from opening more than three-quarters, which is the ideal. If bloom is not sufficiently open, try placing warm water to hasten it.

Growers were told that at the gardens, for winter protection, the bushes are covered with eight inches of earth dumped by trucks, then covered with coarse straw after the ground is frozen. A warning was to avoid use of materials on the bushes which might hold moisture and cause freezing. Grafting methods and pollination were described by the speaker who answered many questions which indicated that rose growing is likely to be greatly increased in this area as a result of this trip which was favoured by ideal, sunny weather following a cloudy morning. District No. 3 has had many interesting and educational outings but few could equal this day at Newark, N.Y.

Members Attend

Among the members of Stirling Horticultural Society who attended were Messrs. Percy Craighead, Ross Holland, Chris Bateman, Ross Bush, Floyd Armstrong, Harry Clarke, Perry Bronson, Wm. Wiley, Belleville, and Messrs. L. Mitchell and C. Hubble, of Wooler.

Rescues Couple

An Oshawa couple owe their lives to an 18-year-old Hastings boy who dove 30 feet from a bridge Sunday into the Trent River to where they clung to their capsized boat after it had been swept over the Hastings dam.

George Duff, an employee at the General Motors plant in Oshawa, plunged into the river just below the dam and swam 200 feet to where Kenneth Durno, 60, and his wife, Mary, 57, fought desperately to stay with their boat. He then helped the exhausted couple to the safety of a rock shelf, 100 feet away.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

STUDY TO BE MADE OF EXPORT MARKET

Determined to stimulate the sale of Ontario farm products in the overseas market, particularly that of the United Kingdom, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Agriculture, announced recently that he would head a group of marketing officials and representatives of commodity groups on a trip to Britain this year. The group will make an export marketing study in the interests of Ontario producers.

The study group will include representatives of the newly created marketing service of the Department of Agriculture, and representatives of the Ontario meat, dairy, tobacco, fruit and vegetable, and cash crop industries.

Chief objection of the delegation will be to enquire into the possibilities of increased export trade in Ontario agricultural products in Great Britain and elsewhere. Expansion of the overseas market is now possible as a result of the recent removal of trade restrictions by the British Government against dollar imports which seriously curbed the export of Canadian consumer goods.

"With the elimination of import controls against dollar countries I feel that there is a splendid opportunity to expand our overseas trade as far as farm products are concerned," said Mr. Goodfellow in announcing his intention to survey the overseas market. "Ontario products have enjoyed great acceptance by the British consumer in the past and it is now up to us to bring to the attention of a new generation the attractiveness, quality and value of Ontario farm products. I am convinced that the study to be made will do much to benefit our overseas trade and at the same time be of material assistance to the farming industry in general."

Indicating the importance of the overseas trade to the Province, Mr. Goodfellow pointed out one hundred per cent of the milk products, canned fruits and vegetables, dry beans, tobacco, soya beans, winter wheat, and fifty per cent of all meat products exported from Canada originated in Ontario. It is felt that further expansion can be brought about following discussions with United Kingdom importers.

Decisions of the Minister to explore the overseas market is in line with his efforts to stimulate the marketing of Ontario farm products through the activities of the Marketing Division of the Department. Every assistance will be given producer marketing boards and co-operatives as well as private trade to develop and extend outlets for Ontario farm products.

Should increased overseas trade materialize there is some possibility that consideration may have to be given to the formation of a special branch within the Marketing Division to co-operate with producers and the various sections of the agricultural industry in advancing the sale of Ontario products both overseas and at home.

Personnel of the study group will be announced at a later date when complete plans for the market survey are formulated.

NEW WAY TO STABLE COWS

A new type of chain-tie stall for milk cows is stirring up a lot of interest among Ontario's dairy farmers.

Latest to report is Oxford County extension engineer, Bob Milne, who says that some Oxford County farmers may be putting in the single-headrail chain tie stall.

What is it? Basically it consists of a single 1 1/2" to 2" L.D. steel pipe used as a head rail and placed 36" above the cow platform; thus the same single-headrail chain tie stall.

The headrail is supported approximately every 4 feet by vertical pipes. Milne feels it's preferable to have 3 pipes spaced at 9" centres and embedded in 6" high concrete curb and welded to the head rail. From the centre one of these vertical supports, a bent horizontal pipe then runs back and into the concrete flooring of the stall. The horizontal pipe separates the cow stall and acts as a brace.

A welded loop on the underside of the headrail holds about a 16" piece of chain with a snap that fastens to a ring in the chain around the cow's neck.

"Not much to it," says Milne. A headrail, vertical supports, stall divider and brace, and a chain tie, is all you need."

How does it work? When the animal is feeding, her head is under the headrail and it prevents her from tossing her head to throw the feed out of the manger. Result: this stall works well with a shallow-sweep style of manger and feed alley.

"When the cow is merely standing, her head is over the rail and in this position she cannot move too far ahead in the stall," says the extension engineer.

Milne, who recently visited Vineland district farmers who were using the system, reports that farmers are making adaptations of the basic unit.

"In two stables, the single headrail pipe was also used as the vacuum line of the milker system; it saved on investment. In another installation this pipe acted as a water pipe."

One objection to using it as a water pipe is that water condenses on the pipe. A drawback of using the headrail as a vacuum line is that cattle sometimes turn on the stopcocks during milking; a protective shield welded over the stopcocks is needed, says Milne.

ONTARIO FARMERS' CASH INCOME, 1959

Ontario farmers had a total farm cash income of $867,302,000 in 1959. What were the sources of the Ontario farmers' cash dollar during the year?

The Farm Economics and Statistics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has just made the figures available.

Livestock returned the greatest share of the dollar, with 45c; livestock products had a value of 28c; and other farm products totalled 27c in value to the farmer.

The figures in detail: Cattle, calves and sheep, 24c; hogs, 14c; poultry, 7c; dairy products, 21c; eggs, 7c; vegetables and other field products, 11c; tobacco, 10c; fruit, 2c; wheat, 1c; other grains, seeds, and hay, 1c; and miscellaneous farm products, 2c.

The figures for farmers in all of Canada during the same period were: Cattle, calves and sheep, 21c; hogs, 12c; poultry, 5c; dairy products, 18c; eggs, 5c; vegetables and field crops, 8c; tobacco, 3c; fruit, 1c; wheat, 19c; other grains, seeds and hay, 6c; miscellaneous farm products, 2c. Total cash income of Canadian farmers was $2,898,093,000.

WEED OF THE WEEK

ONE OF NATURE'S WONDERS — GOAT'S-BEARD

Have you ever watched the spread of seed from goat's-beard as a fast moving car passed along a roadside infested with this seed? The seed head is a large fluffy ball of white resembling the heads of dandelions, but much larger. The seed is equipped with a parachute and the wind carries it far and wide.

Yellow goat's-beard is a biennial, introduced from Europe, and has other distinctive names, such as meadow safsily, morning sun, nap-at-noon, and Johnny-go-to-bed-at-noon. It is usually to be found on roadsides, vacant lots, railways and in waste places. It is seldom found on good farmland, as it will not withstand cultivation, states the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Yellow goat's-beard springs from a fleshy tap root which sends up a slender stalk from one to two feet in height, with long leaves which may be twelve inches at lower level and two to three inches at the top of the stem. These leaves curve at the top with the tip bending inwards. The flowers are yellow and at least two inches across.

Goat's-beard is one of our early weeds, and the bright yellow flower can be seen early in June. We rarely notice this weed after the seed head has been dispersed by the wind. If all plants are cut before seeds sets we can get good control.

On roadsides which have been sprayed for several years we rarely have this weed. Six to eight ounces of 2, 4-D acid per acre will control the tops, or a heavier application of from ten to sixteen ounces in ten or more gallons of water will eradicate both tops and roots.

NEW PLASTIC INSULATION IS MOISTURE RESISTANT AND RIGID

A new kind of insulating material is available to farmers. It's a white, lightweight plastic foam that is quite moisture-resistant and in most cases won't require a moisture barrier.

Agricultural engineering specialist John Turnbull says the material can be bought in rigid 4x8 foot sheets, in 1 and 2 inch thicknesses. It is easy to cut with a handsaw.

"Two inches of polystyrene foam has at least as much insulation value as 2 inches of mineral wool or glass fibre," says Turnbull. "But it's more expensive. The 2 inch foam costs 24 to 28 cents per square foot; mineral wool costs 5 1/2 cents for an equal amount."

The price might discourage its use but the semi-rigid and moisture-resistant qualities make it especially suitable in some cases. Farmers with concrete or masonry walls and floors to insulate are especially interested, says the Ontario Department of Agriculture engineering specialist.

"In farm buildings where animals must lie directly on a concrete floor, some means of holding back heat on the floor is needed," says Turnbull. "Take, for example, a swine-farrowing house where the new-born pigs must be protected from chilling, especially during the first few weeks. A 1-inch layer of plastic foam insulation is laid between the soil and the finished concrete of the floor; when a heat lamp shines on the floor it can warm up."

"Cheaper forms of insulation would absorb moisture and couldn't support the weight of the concrete slab above."

Several farmers are planning to insulate the floors of farrowing pens in converted barns this summer, he says. Proper slopes for the pen floors will be made by levelling a layer of sand on top of the old stable floor. The sand will then be covered with the insulation; then a 2-inch layer of strong concrete will be poured on top and floated to a rough textured finish. A stiff mix of 2 parts sand, 1 part cement, and 2 parts stone will do.

"For some buildings it will be necessary to insulate the entire floor. Place a 1 inch x 24 inch strip of this rigid insulation below grade around the perimeter of the concrete floor."

JOHN DRAINIE

Canadian actor John Drainie, who read stories by Canadian writers each week-day on CBC radio, is ideally suited for his role as a raconteur. He has a reputation as a man of many voices for radio and has had leading roles on television and in the theatre. As a high school student in Vancouver, Drainie switched interests from athletics to acting after suffering a hip injury in an automobile accident. He joined the CBC in 1938 after gathering considerable experience as an amateur actor.

This will keep the heat in buildings such as milk houses, poultry houses, and hog-finchings barns.

"Don't use polystyrene where temperatures will exceed 175 degrees or where cheaper insulation will work as well. Insular, styrofoam, and styrolite are some of the trade names that the product is marketed under. Lumber dealers are now stocking the material," concludes Turnbull.

The Good Driver

Bad driving is always noticeable; it sticks out like a wobbling wheel. But individual acts of good driving often are known only to the man at the wheel.

Two drivers might go through the same streets, at the same speed, in identical conditions. The first man may be driving well, while the second is driving poorly.

The difference is in awareness, points out the Ontario Safety League. The first man knows exactly what he is doing, and he knows so far as it is possible, just what the other road users are doing, or might be doing shortly. He "reads" the situation all along the route, and drives his car so that he has complete control in the existing conditions, and in all foreseeable conditions.

The second man is aware only of his immediate surroundings. Through inattention, or ignorance, he fails to comprehend the significance of much of the other traffic movement in the area. He does not think ahead, nor does he try to think for other drivers and pedestrians. A suddenly-developed hazard, that would have been foreseen and easily avoided by the first driver, is likely to catch him entirely unprepared.

The objective of the first man is not merely to keep out of accidents. It is to keep out of near-misses, and any situation that might lead to a near-miss. That way he saves a lot of wear and tear on his nerves, and perhaps on his wallet. He also keeps more interested, and gets much more enjoyment out of his driving.

Healey Falls On Trent River Long Time Beauty Spot

One of the earliest locks and dams built to facilitate transportation between pioneer settlements on the Trent River was at Healey Falls, near Campbell's Ford, now Campbellford. On Highway 30 not far from Campbellford, two signs mark the "Healey Falls Road" and directs visitors to the historic cataract, which Champlain portaged on his way south with a part of Huron Indians to raid the Iroquois south of Lake Ontario. More information can be obtained on this historic Ontario landmark in the book "Valley of the Trent" and in the recently published "Trent-Severn Waterway" by K. Wells. (Ontario Travel News).

Bit By Muskie

There are hungry muskies in the Trent Canal, and Arthur Moody, manager of Trent Valley Creamery in Campbellford, has the scars to prove it.

Mr. Moody was water skiing on the Trent on Wednesday of last week when he was bitten on the foot by a muskie. The incident occurred as Mr. Moody let go of the tow rope to come ashore at the centopah on Queen Street, adjoining the canal. As he descended into the water, a muskie leapt toward him, grabbing the toes on one foot, then let go immediately. Moody climbed ashore with blood streaming from the teeth marks on his toes, and is now limping slightly.

There sure are a lot of fellows who can't play the guitar... who do.

Rev. A. S. McConnell Speaker at Centennial Dinner at St. John's

(Edgar C. Hay-Ellis)

On Thursday, June 23rd, a Centennial Dinner was held at the Hall of St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling.

The arrangements for the meal itself were in the capable hands of Mrs. Frank Harding, who with the assistance of several members of the Afternoon and Evening Guilds (who in spite of preparing the meal were able to sit down and enjoy it) and the Young People of the parish (who did the serving), presented a banquet of turkey, strawberries and ice cream, and birthday cake fit for a king. Mrs. Harding and her helpers could see how much their work was appreciated by the way the guests enjoyed the meal.

Among the guests were the Venerable Archdeacon Creegan, representing Mrs. A. Packman, of St. Paul's United Church, and Mr. Roy Eggleton, representing his minister, the Rev. Kenneth Rooney, of the local Presbyterian Church. All these guests conveyed their good wishes to St. John's on its Hundredth Birthday, and wished it well in the years to come.

But the 'piece de resistance' was the speech by Canon McConnell, of St. Thomas Church, Belleville, who had been the Rector of St. John's for seven years, from 1933 to 1940.

ing South Eastern Ontario; the Rev. Peter Tett, of Parham and Sharbot Lake; the Rev. Richard Fleming, of Marmora; Mr. Paul Packman and

It was natural that he could hardly refrain from reminiscing, and it would be impossible to write all that he said, but certain points stand out. He spoke at length of his deep affection and great esteem for the late Dr. Alger and Buttimer Belshaw; he referred to the outstanding work of Bert Bedford; he told of the time when a group of Stirling citizens actually barbecued a whole ox over a fire-pit 6'4"x3' on the Stirling Fair Grounds; he related how a few stalwarts had helped to build him a cottage at Plevna; he remembered how his mother had loved Stirling, and he expressed his undying gratitude to those who gave her love and comfort in her closing years. A few of the other names he mentioned were Joe and Olive Whitehead, Dr. and Mrs. Carleton, the Morrises, Mrs. Graver and Sybil Smith, Fred Houchin and Frank Harding. He told funny stories and he brought lumps to our throats. Then, in all seriousness, he pointed out that as the building had stood for a hundred years, more than likely it would go on for many more years, but it was the People who made the Church. It was a memorable speech, which few of those who heard it will ever forget. It was a speech most suitable for a Centennial Dinner.

Mr. George Noble, the Rector's Warden of St. John's, thanked Canon McConnell on behalf of the listeners and George really expressed what we all felt.

Mr. Earl Morrow, on behalf of the congregations of Stirling, Frankford and Glen Miller — for all were represented at the dinner — expressed his appreciation.

Mr. Glenn Morrow, the People's Warden, after recalling certain incidents of his boyhood days during the incumbency of Canon McConnell in this parish, thanked the ladies for the excellent meal served.

The Rector, the Rev. Russell Gale, who had been the chairman all through the evening, asked the Archdeacon to bring the meeting to a close with the benediction.

Thus ended the Centennial Dinner, but many minds must have been stirred that night, for it is so easy for the Present to forget what it owes to the Past, but this night we had been reminded. May God grant us the help of such men Now and in the Future.
